

Harvel wins bus service permit for 'Arlington Heights'

Illinois Commerce Commission has granted authority to Harvel Motor Coach Company over two other transportation companies to operate bus service as a public utility in Arlington Heights.

Four additional bus routes authorized, which will serve principally school children and commuters, will be instituted immediately after Labor Day.

Present service of Harvel Motor Coach Company between Skokie and the railroad station will continue until after the new schedule goes into effect. The four school circuits will run only on "school days".

Although the bus schedule will remain substantially the same as the last school year, the Illinois Commerce Commission was compelled to issue one bus company "certificate of public convenience and necessity," when Harvel, Arlington Motor Coach Company, and United Motor Coach Company all petitioned the commission for approval of similarly proposed routes, last January.

Harvel, the principal stockholder in Harvel Motor Coach Company, has transported school children to various grade, parochial, and kindergarten schools in Arlington Heights since 1940. Andrew Geisen, of Arlington Motor Coach Company, has operated a bus carrying students to the high school from areas outside the village. His route will not be affected.

Hourly service not warranted, ICC rules

The commission's decision as issued in an order entered July 26, reads, in part:

"The principal need for service developed by the evidence . . . involved the rendering of service to and from the railroad station during the so-called rush hours of the day and for transportation of school children to the various schools in the village.

"While Arlington Motor Coach Company proposed an hourly service throughout the day and through the evening hours, the record indicates that there is no need for such frequency of service, nor did it appear that it could be sustained or warranted by the prospective volume of traffic."

Operate two buses

Mr. Harvel hopes to acquire another bus by Labor Day to provide for the increased business and also for emergencies when the present bus "goes to the garage for repair."

The United Motor Coach Company has offered Mr. Harvel a bus in consideration for purchase of a minority stock interest in the company. Such an arrangement must be approved by the ICC.

The bus schedules will be printed and published before the service is inaugurated, states Harvel.

Sells taxi service

Mr. Harvel reported that he expects to sell his "Arlington Yellow Cab Company" sometime this week, and devote his full time to giving Arlington a "first rate" bus service.

Announce schedule for Arlington high school opening

Arlington Heights township high school has announced the opening of the school term and advises all pupils to observe the following schedule.

A faculty meeting will be held in the library at 9:30 Tuesday morning, September 3.

Upper three grade students will report for brief general assembly at 1 o'clock Tuesday, September 3. Students will receive instructions at that time and then report to their home rooms to complete enrollment cards. These sophomores, juniors and seniors will not report for school at any time on Wednesday, September 4.

All freshmen will report at general assembly at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning, September 4. Enrollment cards will be completed in home rooms after the assembly.

New pupils who will be enrolling in the high school for the first time this fall (except the regular freshmen) should visit the school office next week, August 19 to 23, from 9 to 12 a. m. or 1 to 4 p. m. to register for their subjects.

Pupils of all classes will report for the first regular session Thursday morning, September 5. All students will be required to pay their book rental fee of $3 and activity card fee of $1.75 when the enrollment cards are completed in the home rooms.

Oil gravel streets

Many of the "dullest" streets in the outskirts of Arlington Hts. received a good oiling this week to combat the result of the driest summer in years. Although it would be too much of a job to oil every gravel street, those streets which are used most were treated.

High school may lose teachers for lack of living quarters

Because many high school teachers in Arlington Heights have been unable to find a house or other quarters, the school board is threatened with the loss of some of its faculty for the approaching school term.

The board of education is making a personal and apprehensive appeal to all local citizens to help them find quarters, even temporary, for the teachers to live. Not only new members of the faculty have discovered the same distressing housing shortage in returning from their summer vacations.

If any home owner can arrange for even light housekeeping rooms, they will be satisfactory, stated board members.

Call the high school, phone 200, if you have any arrangement to offer.

Village clerk sound sleeper; lightning strikes house—so neighbors say

When lightning struck the home of Forrest Davis, village clerk, Arlington Heights, during an electrical storm early Thursday morning, Davis was the last to hear about it. A bolt cut a 4 foot swath through the shingles on the roof and scattered them over the yard.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis were merely awakened by the storm that hit this area about 5 o'clock in the morning. After both left for work in the morning, a neighbor called the village clerk's office to inquire if "everything was all right with the Davis'." Forrest did an about face to check on his home at 827 N. Chestnut. The rest of the house was untouched with the exception of a broken rafter.

Collectors report tax payments are slow

Township collectors who opened their offices last week for the collection of second installment of the 1945 real estate taxes report collections thus far have been comparatively slow.

Penalty date is September 1. The local collectors are working up to the last possible moment, but they are asking the cooperation of the citizenry in not waiting until that moment to stream into their offices.

Local collectors can be found in the following locations: Wheeling township, William Annen, Arlington Heights National Bank; Elk Grove township, Albert Kraemer, Mt. Prospect State Bank; Palatine township, T. C. Hart, DePue real estate office in the state bank building.

4-H clubs to hold cookie sale

The 4-H Flashes and Handy Pansies of Arlington Heights are announcing the coming of a Cookie Sale to be held Saturday, August 17, at 2 p. m. in the Public Service store.

The proceeds of the sale will go to the fund being raised for a new State 4-H camp. This camp will be centrally located and will be available to all 4-H boys and girls and to members of farm and home bureaus who may wish to participate in camp activity.

Don't blame the editor . . .

'cause he wasn't here. Neither was Ed Duenn, the ad compositor, nor Mrs. Durn, who has learned during the war years to do most anything in the shop, nor Art Schoepke, pressman. Vacation fever took all four away just when the largest paper of the month was in the offing. Charlie and all the rest had to pitch in and help fill in the gap. So, when you see Stuart Paddock on the street, we would appreciate it if you just said "Pretty good paper this week," and if anything is wrong, don't blame the editor—or us.

War Memorial 'suggestion box' empty, but treasury is filled with $7,000

Funds for the War Memorial in Arlington Heights has reached the sum of $7,000, according to the report presented at the Community Council meeting Monday night. "Money talks, and now is the time to start talking seriously about a war memorial," stated Oral Cline, president.

The memorial committee has received a few suggestions from the public, including among them a building for the youth center, an airport, a gymnasium on either the high school grounds or Recreation Park, a band shell, a library building, and a specially landscaped thoroughfare.

Turn down requests for parcels of forest preserves

While the Forest Preserve District of Cook County is considering the recent request made by the Army for a large portion of land in the Palos forest preserve area, it was revealed that many public bodies outside of Chicago have also made similar requests for land from the Forest Preserve District.

Such official or semi-official requests by suburban governments have resulted in the adoption by the County Board of the resolution reaffirming a policy adopted many years ago not to part with Forest Preserve property.

The holdings of the vast county forest system include 36,600 acres of both clear and wooded land encircling the city. The property was acquired over a period of 30 years, with an original cost of $20,000,000. In light of present land values, the property is much more valuable.

Robert Kingery, head of the Chicago Regional Planning Association and secretary to the Advisory Committee of the Forest Preserve District declared:

"The policy of the Forest Preserve Commissioners is to resist all such requests for land. Many requests are made by public bodies without realizing that they may be injuring a county wide system."

"Frequently, when we have studied the requests with the public officials making them, a solution was found without resort to Forest Preserve land."

Among the suburban communities to make either formal or informal requests for such land in recent months, were: Morton Grove, River Forest, Maywood and Glenview.

Since the Forest Preserve District was established, the sale of four parcels of land from the Forest Preserves to local communities have been approved by the County Board.

In a letter to the County Board, the Advisory Committee of the Forest Preserve District declared:

"A possible inevitable result of the program by the Forest Preserve District to complete and expand its comprehensive plan is that some public bodies as well as private organizations may seek or have sought to obtain the exclusive use of a part of the property for a special purpose (and) there will probably come an increasing number of such requests."

"The Commissioners cannot consider themselves only temporary custodians of lands and forests, or as an interim land-holding agency from which other public and private bodies may draw at will."

"The majority of the property tax for the servicing of land acquisition bonds is collected within the city of Chicago. The severance of one parcel in the interest of a relatively small suburban municipality is merely interpreted as a sacrifice of the general total interest of all the people of the county."

"By so doing it would only serve to mutilate and scar what is a very fine thing. The forests and meadows give spaciousness to the metropolitan scene where it is badly needed."

Mt. Prospect Rural Fire department holds picnic and carnival Saturday

Tenth anniversary celebration of the Mt. Prospect Rural Fire department will be held Saturday night with its biannual picnic and carnival. Modern square dancing, bingo games, and other attractions will feature the event at Erhardt's Grove, Route 62, east of Des Plaines.

As evidence of the harmony between the village and rural departments and the village board of Mt. Prospect, the two fire companies alternate their carnivals every year. They are also ready to "pitch in" and help each other out when there's a fire call.

The rural fire department is working toward a new truck that will hold 800 gallons. It is asking the general public of adjoining communities to join their anniversary festivities and make this old fashioned picnic a real success. Dance tickets are 75 cents.

Start work on South school addition in Arlington Heights

Final inter-town swim meet at pool Wednesday

Arlington Heights had six representatives in the Herald American Red Cross swimming championship held Sunday, August 11, at Riis Park. Of the six, one came out champion in his class and another was a runner-up champion.

Bob Felker was the Herald American Champion in the 12 and 13 year old novice division. Dick Hoffman won second in the 13 and 14 year old division. These town boys are the first swimmers of Arlington Heights to ever win the Herald American title. They first participated and won in a local swim meet, going on to win the district championship at Portage Park, and finally winning first and second in all Chicago land at Riis Park.

The summer competition will close Wednesday, August 21, when there will be competition in swimming and diving between representatives from Arlington Heights, Palatine, Mt. Prospect and Prospect Heights.

The final listing of events are as follows:

No. 1, midget girls, 7-8-9, 1 width; No. 2, midget boys 7-8-9, 1 width; No. 3, junior girls, 10-11-12, 1 width; No. 4, junior boys, 10-11-12, 1 width; No. 5, intermediate girls, 13-14-15, 2 widths; No. 6, intermediate boys, 13-14-15, 2 widths; No. 7, senior girls, 16-17-18, 2 widths; No. 8, senior boys, 16-17-18, 2 widths; No. 9, inter. girls, 13-14-15, 1 width, back stroke; No. 10, inter. boys, 13-14-15, 1 width, back stroke; No. 11, senior girls, 16-17-18, 1 width, back stroke; No. 12 senior boys, 16-17-18, 1 width, back stroke.

Junior girls, 12 and under, diving, 3 dives; junior boys, 12 and under, diving, 3 dives.

Senior girls, 13 and over, diving, 4 dives; senior boys, 13 and over, diving, 4 dives.

Results of summer handicraft:

1st place, Celia Close; 2nd, Theo Sturm; 3rd, Judy Lips.

NW Realtors to fete second anniversary at dinner August 28

The Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors, comprising Park Ridge, Des Plaines, Mount Prospect, Prospect Heights, Palatine, Arlington Heights, Barrington and Barrington, has been in existence two years. They will celebrate their second anniversary Wednesday, August 28, at the Mt. Prospect Country Club, Mt. Prospect, with golf, cards, dinner and entertainment (golf 1:00—dinner 7:00) for members, their wives, families, and friends.

There will be good entertainment and a large number of substantial prizes.

The officers are George L. Busse, president; Owen J. McCabe, secretary; Donald D. Florence, treasurer; Ben R. Williams, secretary.

'Stubby' Meyer, veteran wholesaler here, retires

William G. Meyer, familiarly known as "Stubby" by three generations, is retiring. He sold his business at 710 Kensington road, Arlington Heights, to Benjamin Micklevitz.

Mr. Meyer admits he is not as young as he used to be. He thinks he deserves a real vacation and the family says they are going to see that he gets it.

Stubby's picnic grove and pavilion was the site of community celebrations of 40 and 50 years ago. The Meyer homestead in the latter part of the 1800's was recently purchased by N. M. Latte, who in turn resold it. The picnic grove was a block farther east. There was an ice house and a pond from which was harvested the ice that was used by Arlington Heights residents.

Mr. Meyer was a member of the Arlington Heights fire department over 25 years, serving as assistant chief from 1908 to 1935. His son is captain of that organization, and his grandson, born recently, has also been optioned to the firemen by his granddad and dad—a family of firemen.

Years ago, "Stubby's" wholesale beverage company, that he acquired from his father, was the largest in the northwest area. There is hardly an "old timer" in the northwest section of Chicago that didn't know him personally. He also operated in several places of business in Arlington Heights from time to time.

Straight dope about terminal leave pay law

Service Officer Walter Haynes, Illinois Veterans' Commission, 41 S. Prospect Avenue, Park Ridge, has received the following digest of the enlisted men's leave pay bill from the Illinois Veterans' Commission:

Who is Entitled: Honorably discharged enlisted members of armed forces (Army, Navy, U. S. Marines, Coast Guard). Includes those honorably separated to accept commissions.

Dates of Service: All enlisted service in the period between September 8, 1939, and August 31, 1946, may be compensated.

Maximum Allowable: 120 calendar days. (Total leave as officer and enlisted man cannot exceed 120 days.)

How Paid: Cash payment where amount is less than $50; cash also to all who were discharged prior to January 1, 1943. To all other veterans, in 5-year bonds (bearing 2½% interest from first day of January, April, July or October following date of discharge) in multiples of $25; balance, less than $25, in cash (government check).

To Compute Entitlement: Figure 2½ calendar days per month for each month of active service after September 8, 1939—up to a maximum of 120 days. Deduct: (1) all furlough time (not 1-2 or 3-day passes); (2) all AWOL; (3) all absence over Excavating for the addition to the Arlington Heights South school was begun Wednesday, August 7, by Axel E. Johnson Co., general contractors. The Johnson firm is well known in this region for school building construction, having built a number of schools here including the North school in Arlington Heights.

Other contractors selected by the board of education on the basis of bids opened publicly June 28 are Fettes, Love, and Sieben, Chicago, for the plumbing; Anthony Dvorak Co., Chicago, for heating and ventilation; and George W. Reineke Electric Co., Chicago, for electrical work.

The board of education feels that with the completion of the plans for the building, the signing of contracts with the contractors, and the actual beginning of construction, considerable progress has been made toward the construction of this much needed addition. While it is expected that it will take the greater part of the school year to finish the construction, every effort will be made to keep the work in progress and to complete it at the earliest possible date.

The addition will include an auditorium—gymnasium, with stage and shower, locker facilities, a kindergarten, four classrooms, a cafeteria, offices, library and clinic office. Changes in the existing structure will include improvements of lighting, modernization of the time and signaling system and alterations in the heating and ventilation.

The project was authorized in an election March 16 for issuance of $185,000 in bonds to cover the cost of the project. A subsequent election July 20 approved an additional bond issue of $100,000 to meet present higher building costs. The original issue calls for retirement of bonds over a 20 year period, while the later issue will be retired in five years.

Youth Center to close Aug. 28-Sept. 14

The Arlington Heights Youth Center will be open until August 28 in its present quarters in the upstairs of the field house. It will be closed then until September 14, when it will reopen in the regular place in the field-house basement.

County Board acts on Zoning Board of Appeals recommendations

Despite receipt of a formal letter of objection from the City of Park Ridge, the county board public service committee concurred in the action of the county zoning board of appeals allowing a 300-foot wide by 260-foot deep parcel of land on the south side of Touhy avenue, 100 feet west of River road, Maine township to be rezoned from Residence-4 (10,000 square feet minimum) classification to Business-1.

The only means of stopping the rezoning now is if the entire county board reverses the committee, which has identical membership. Vote of approval by three-fourths majority is needed against the wishes of a municipality. No contrary votes were recorded.

A move to send the matter back to the zoning board was halted when a representative said it was now up to the county board, since the zoning board had acted.

A report signed by Chairman Robert E. Kingery found that evidence is convincing as to the "public and general need for an additional business zone to service the anticipated population."

Des Plaines gives OK

The report pointed out that at the public hearing held in Des Plaines on June 5, the city of Des Plaines offered no objection, but advised the zoning board that the property within Des Plaines across Touhy avenue to the north is classified for business within the municipal zoning ordinance. Park Ridge then offered only verbal objection. The northeast corner of the tract is now zoned for B-2 (Business, Tavern, and Amusement).

The letter from the city of Park Ridge, written by City Attorney Marshall S. Howard and dated July 12, also opposed the proposed similar rezoning of property at Devon avenue and Higgins road, which is requested by the Town Development Company, 183 West Randolph street, petitioner on both tracts, and is still before the zoning board.

"The city of Park Ridge opposes any change of zoning in its immediate vicinity to a business classification until such time as the airport plans and roads to and from it are reasonably well developed and the general overall plan settled," said the letter.

"We are thoroughly opposed to scattered plots of business zoning fringing the entire airport area and in the vicinity of our city, which is basically one of single-family residences of well-built and substantial type."

"Any hasty and ill-considered development which leads to the establishment of business premises on our borders will seriously endanger property values within the town."

Don't

The public service committee concurred in the zoning board's denial of a request by Henry and Minnie Karnatz, Des Plaines, to rezone 40 acres on the southwest corner of Wolf and Algonquin roads, Maine township, from farming and business to an I-2 (Heavy industry) classification.

Redwings in third tourney game this Sunday

The Redwing 6-1 victory over Woodland last Sunday put the home club in the third round of the Midwest League tournament to determine the semi-pro baseball champion in the Chicago area.

Last Monday evening at the league meeting the Arlington club drew as their opponent the strong Root Brothers team from the South side of Chicago. The game will be played in Arlington Heights beginning at 3:00 o'clock this Sunday.

The Root Brothers club has also won their two tourney games. Their Midwest League record is 12 games and 2 losses. In the tournament, a team must lose two games before it is eliminated. Both the Redwings and the visitors have perfect records. There are 15 teams left in the tournament.

As the field narrows down competition gets tougher and it should be a thrilling contest when the local club and highly rated visitors tangle Sunday in Recreation Park to determine who retains a perfect record.

Mt. Prospect to vote on $45,000 additional school bond issue

A $45,000 additional bond issue for the new school will be placed before the voters of Mt. Prospect Saturday. After an original bond issue of $200,000 was approved, the board of education found itself in the same predicament of other taxing bodies in this area—bids exceeded estimates at first thought sufficient for the improvement.

Elimination of all but the necessary features in the plans still did not bring a second series of bids down below the $200,000, and the board found it necessary to call another election.

Air rifle may be dangerous, police warn

Arlington Heights police department issued a warning this week to the parents of boys who have been shooting air rifles in the neighborhood of Stonegate subdivision.

"Several complaints have been received," states Police Chief Skoog, "and although we like to see the kids have a little fun, still it may prove dangerous to persons and property if such a thing was permitted to continue."

Faulty refrigerator wiring causes $3,000 fire near Arlington

Mt. Prospect Rural and Arlington Heights village fire departments were called to extinguish a blaze at 1328 Belmont, south of Arlington Heights Saturday morning, when faulty wiring in a refrigerator set fire to a three car garage occupied by the John Hahn family. Damage was estimated at $3,000.

The garage had been furnished and served as living quarters for the Hahns, who moved here a year ago, until a dwelling could be constructed. The family was away at the time of the fire and was not aware of the misfortune until they returned that evening. The fire had gained considerable momentum by the time the two fire departments were called and nothing could be saved except the shell of the building.

Seek interest for infant welfare

Several Arlington Heights mothers have approached Paddock Publications with a proposition that the recently abandoned infant welfare clinic be re-established in the town. Lack of interest previously halted the project, where community health services were offered families free of charge.

Before any such action could again be taken, enough interest would have to be shown to insure good attendance. Paddock Publications are seeking letters from mothers interested as a service to the town.

Loses thumb in closing hopper door

Frank Samuelovitch of Arlington Heights was injured Tuesday while working on a hopper car in the Tibbitts-Cameron Lumber yards, where he is employed. His thumb caught in the closing hopper door and was so badly smashed that it had to be amputated below the joint. He was taken to the St. Joseph hospital in Elgin for treatment.

To build ten homes for vets in Palatine

The Maxon construction company has announced the construction of ten homes for veterans in Palatine, it was revealed this week. Selling strictly only to veterans, the homes will be of all brick, cape cod, one-level construction.

Site of the homes will be in the area around Helen and Plum Grove roads, on the south end of Palatine. Work will start immediately, with complete details of the homes found elsewhere in this paper.

Village engineers of Palatine quit; rehired Consoer

The Wells Engineering Co. of Geneva, who were recently retained by the village of Palatine to draw up plans and specifications for the long proposed sewer disposal plant, have resigned their job, due to the pressure of other work and emergency jobs from some of their old clients.

This action by the engineers left Palatine high and dry once more on the important sewer disposal system. The need for this system is becoming more pressing daily, due to the large developments which are taking place in the village.

The board, at the Monday night meeting, voted to retain Consoer, Townsend and Associates as village engineers to go ahead with the plans for the disposal plant. This is the concern which, under the name of Consoer, Older and Quinlan, was responsible for Palatine's engineering work during the boom days of 20 years ago. Consoer is also village engineer for Arlington Heights.

Zoning board—

after receiving a letter from Attorney Samuel H. Rosenthal, representing the Des Plaines Villa Protective association objecting to the proposal.

The committee concurred also in the denial of an application by Robert K. Fausing, 4436 West Harrison street, for the rezoning of the triangle between Waukegan road, the Milwaukee railroad tracks, and a line 600 feet north of Golf boulevard, Niles township from farming to light industry.

Also denied, but with a variation authorized for the particular property, was a petition by Matthew L. Fogarett, Palatine, to rezone the southwest corner of Baldwin road and Franklin ave., Palatine, from Residence-4 (10,000 sq. ft.) to Business.

Petitions withdrawn

The committee received notice from the zoning board that two petitions had been withdrawn: One by William Fremd, Palatine, to rezone the southeast corner of Dundee and Rand roads, Palatine township, from farming to business, and the other by Miss Lyle Nipper, to rezone the southwest corner of Westgate road and Meadow Lane, Wheeling township, from farming to business.

The committee referred to the zoning board a petition by Eleanor Schiesle, Park Ridge, as trustee, to rezone land 500 feet north and west of River road and Higgins road, Leyden township, from farming to Business-Tavern-Amusement, and one by Christine Deninger, Palatine, to rezone property on the south side of Florence avenue, 175 feet west of Arlington road, Palatine township, from farming to light industry.

The county board committee on roads and bridges ordered "filed" a letter from Mayor Barney Reeves of Franklin Park urging the improvement of Addison street from River road to Rose street, upon receiving an assurance from George A. Quinlan, superintendent of the highway department, that the matter was being "studied."

Quinlan's report pointed out that the section of road involved was included in a scheduled improvement from Mannheim road to River road listed in the second year of the county's 10-year program from 1945 to 1955.

At the present time the highway building agencies and aviation authorities are studying the highway system around the Douglas airport, he reported. "No concrete plans are made yet but as further studies are undertaken they may involve Addison street. I recommend that paving be withheld until the Douglas program is completed."

Mayor Reeves' letter called the present state of the traffic in respect to this road an "emergency."

Hay goes begging in Palatine subdivisions

The old Palatine Ridge subdivision and the Dean farm has been undergoing a face lifting operation lately at the hands of Anthony Dolatowsky's Palatine Equipment company. The crews have been cutting weeds and grass, chopping down brush and making this whole tract of land spic and span and ready for development.

Mr. Dolatowsky says that he wishes he could get some one to take all the hay as he hates to burn up all the good feed, but that the good old days seem to be over when a farmer or team owner was glad to cut the hay for it. Now you can't even get rid of it after it's cut, but have to burn it up.

The Palatine Equipment Co., one of Palatine's new business ventures, is equipped to do all manner of clean up jobs, including tree trimming, plowing, roto tiller work, and in short, it's the answer to a prayer for people who are looking for some one to clean things up and put them in shape.

Village board OKs annexation of new Fair Grounds Park

The Palatine village board, at a meeting Monday night, expressed its willingness to annex to the village the latest subdivision of the Arthur T. McIntosh Co., "Fair Grounds Park", located on the old Cook county fair grounds site just north of Palanais Park. This land extends east of the northwest highway.

The new subdivision contains about 48 acres and will be furnished with a water main and hard surface streets, such as were built in Palanais Park. These improvements will be made by the subdivider.

Attitude of the village board toward such an annexation was asked by the McIntosh company who submitted a plat of their new development.

Earl Chaberg, representing the realty firm, said immediate development of the subdivision was planned. They have already filed an application for priorities for material for ten homes.

Field meeting at the Rohlfing plots Aug. 16

Farmers are reminded of an interesting meeting to be held on the Herman Rohlfing farm at the intersection of 53 and 58, 2 p. m. Friday, August 16, as has been announced heretofore.

The alfalfa that was harvested from the second cutting is shocked on the plots. J. C. Hackelman of the University Extension Service will be present to discuss these varieties and the growing of alfalfa on Cook County dairy farms.

Also, corn may be seen growing on which a number of different systems of fertilizer is being tried out. C. M. Lindsley of the Soil Extension Service will also be present to discuss fertilizing the corn crop and particularly plow sole fertilizer which is attracting farmers' attention at the present time.

The meeting will be called at 2 o'clock.

Ed Figahs may have to ride steer to Indianapolis

The live 1,000 steer which attracted so much attention, during the fete in the "More Meat Than You Can Eat" feature was won by C. W. Zartman of Indianapolis, Ind. According to the arrangement made at the time of the ticket sale Ed Figahs may be in for some front page publicity. It seems that Zartman refrained from purchasing until Figahs assured him of delivery at Figahs' expense. "If you'll ride the critter to Indianapolis it's a go" replied Zartman.

man, and the sale was made. Now, all of those who heard the story several weeks ago are wondering how Lion Tail Twister Figahs will make delivery.

All groups cooperated

With the closing of the fete Sunday night the steering committee F. E. Poor, Ed Figahs, W. H. Spears and Mrs. Torsten Sanden, together with Grover Jungbluth, president of the Field House Assn., congratulated the leaders of all local organizations for their fine cooperation and valuable assistance in making the fete an outstanding success.

The fine cooperation received from Smith & Dawson in granting the full free use of the Recreation Field for the fete was also an important factor in the success of the 10th Anniversary celebration.

Rev. Huebner given new honors and degree in Colorado

Honors were conferred upon the Rev. W. F. Huebner, pastor of St. Andrews Evangelical church, 2901 Karlov, during the commencement exercises of the Pikes Peak Bible Seminary and Burton College on Wednesday, July 31, at the Community Congregational church at Manitou Springs, Colo., when he received the degree of Doctor of Theology, presented by President H. Ellis Lininger, Th.D., L.L.D. Rev. Huebner was formerly pastor at St. Paul's church, Palatine.

Additional degrees he has earned are the A.B., B.S., and the B. S. in education which he received while attending the Central Missouri State Teacher's college in Warrensburg, and his B. D. degree while a student at the Garrett Biblical Institute in Evanston. His wife, the former Marie Emry of Kansas City, Mo., has also had a number of degrees conferred upon her. She has taught high school in Pittsburgh, Kans., Kankakee, Ill., and on Chicago's south side. They met in high school while attending the Warrensburg Training school and continued their friendship through the State Teacher's college and Garrett Biblical Institute.

The Rev. Huebner was surprised by a visit by one of his parishioners, Mrs. Mary Anderson, who attended the exercises at Manitou Springs.

His wife and daughter, Rosemarie, motored to Colorado stopping to visit with parents and other relatives in Illinois, Missouri, Kansas and Colorado.

Ben Cochrane heads Arlington Rifle Club

Newly elected officers of the Arlington Heights Rifle club are Ben Cochrane, president; Oscar Johnson, vice president; George Goewey, executive officer, and Laverne Levine, secretary-treasurer. The club holds their weekly "shoot" every Saturday.

Affiliated with the National Rifle Association of America, club members are able to procure government arms and ammunition from the Director of Civilian Marksmanship, Washington, D. C. states Levine.

The club has been necessarily inactive during the war because of the lack of ammunition, but it now plans to make up for lost time and "start shooting."

Officers retiring this year are Paul Patrick, president; Lee Biedermann, vice-president; and E. Guenther, treasurer.

Boom Construction

In the boom years 1925 to 1929, the average volume of building construction was 10.6 billion dollars. In the depressed years, 1931 to 1935, it was 3.7 billion dollars.

Pfc. Orris Neagle of Palatine has been sent to Fort McClellan, Ala., as cadre after an extended furlough of 65 days. He originally was flown home from Korea on a 30 day emergency furlough and then was granted two 15 day extensions and a final 5 day extension to be able to remain with his wife as long as possible. Mrs. Neagle is still at the Sherman hospital in Elgin due to the motorcycle accident she and Alice Erickson had four months ago.

Mrs. Neagle underwent another major operation a few weeks ago and will have to undergo another before being able to leave the hospital. She expects to be released from the hospital in a month or so, though at present she is still flat on her back. After her release she will not be able to get around alone for a period of eight months or a year.

Christmas cards to be shown at antique and hobby show

A new and unusual feature of the third annual antique and hobby show, given by the Woman's Society of the Arlington Heights Methodist church September 11, 12 and 13, is to be a greeting card booth.

The Society feels fortunate in having secured for the discriminating women of the village, the Ars Sacra greeting card, which is the top studio line of cards in the United States, and which are sold only in carefully selected shops through out the country.

The group will carry the Ars Sacra line as a continued project, and the antique show will introduce them to the community.

Included in their line are the famous Hummel cards, by the well known artist-nun, Bertu Hummel.
Little is needed by the way of introduction to her work, for her pictures of small children, angels and madonnas are known the world around. Into her work she has put an appeal that elicits spontaneous delight from those who see her cards. She sketches children as if she had come upon them unaware, showing a real appreciation for the wonder that is rooted in a child's mind. That is why her work is so real, so true and so human.

The Hummel Christmas cards picture Bertu Hummel's Madonnas and Angels, and are truly beautiful. Other Christmas boxes which will be presented for sale at the show, are the "Green Box", a perfect selection for the sophisticated, and a delightful "Cheery Cherub Box" done in red and white.

Other attractive cards which will be sold, are a "Hustle Bustle" card, which will find great appeal among the women, a "flower box", which is the perfect answer for the small note, an "Every day card" of small figures, with fascinating attention given to detail.

For those people who like Chinese Christmas cards, the group will carry a Chinese card by Mr. Chang Chu Chi. Mr. Chang has had many one man showings in the metropolitan area, including one at the Art Institute, where he received acclaim.

This entire line will be attractively displayed and sold at the antique show, and will afford a splendid opportunity to take care of the bridge prize, the Christmas gift and the Christmas card problem, in an easy and discriminating manner.

Mrs. Frederick C. Schmover is chairman of the project, and may be contacted for information at Arlington Heights 2278. The cards are available at the present time.

Rural youth outing at Cedar Lake

Forty members of the North Cook County Rural Youth arrived about 10:00 a. m. Sunday morning, August 11th, at Sherwood Park for their day long (and then some) picnic.

The boys worked up an appetite for their dinner by playing a vigorous game of baseball on one of the many diamonds at the park.

After finding two suitable trees for their net, the girls partook in three very strenuous volleyball games. Mildred Gosh served as a very good score keeper, at least for her team. With the able assistance of Allan Jensen and Jack Bingham one team managed to win two of the three games. The President of the Rural Youth group, Eleanor Krueger, failed to duck for the volleyball at one time and her left eye suffered the consequences.

Following a very satisfying dinner furnished by the girls the group did various things to suit their taste. Some played more baseball, while others went swimming and boating.

After supper the group enjoyed dancing in the Arcade.

Attend 1st national field archers meet

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Collignon of Arlington Heights attended the First National Field Archers tournament at Allegan, Mich., the past week end.

The Collignons are well known for their interest in archery and participated along with 450 other people in this event. The participants represented 24 different states, including top ranking archers, Ken Moore, Roy Hoff, and Dr. Fletcher, all of California.

The tournament was divided into a women's division and a men's division. After the first day's results, the men were divided into three classes, expert bowman, bowman, and archers.

The Collignons were unable to stay for the third day, Monday, on which the "broadhead" round was featured. The broadhead arrow is used in game hunting. They also have not received the results of the tournament.

American Legion Auxiliary notes

A regular meeting of Merle Guild Unit No. 208 American Legion Auxiliary, Arlington Hgts., will be held at Legion Hall, Tuesday evening, August 20. A special election and a report from the girl who attended Girls State are on the program.

The carnival is over and the next thing on the agenda will be the State Convention, which is to be held in Chicago, August 16-19 inclusive. The delegates from here will leave August 15.

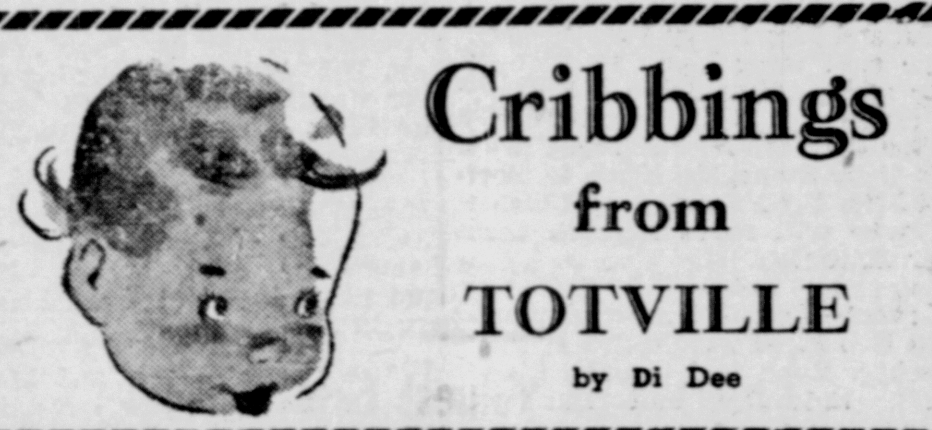

James Hayden was the lucky winner of the quilt given away at the carnival. The auxiliary wishes to express its thanks to all those who helped at the carnival.

American Fashions Take to Road Post-War Vacation Spirit Prevails

AMERICA IS BACK ON WHEELS—And they are hitting the road on everything from a tandem bicycle to the latest model cars out of Detroit—American women are wearing clothes expressive of the freedom of the first post-war vacations, such as this string-along slack suit in trolley stripe designed by Stephanie Koret, California. It's styled for chic, cut for action, in a fabric that stands up to the "wear and tear" of an active vacation. At left is lovely Phyllis Henry and at right lissome Carol McCallison, both of Beverly Hills, Calif.

Arlington girl wins 4-H recognition

Miss Joan Lingren, an eighth grader of the Arlington Heights North Public school, was one of the two girls chosen to model clothes at the State Fair in Springfield for a period of three days, all expenses paid. This honor was won at the recent 4-H Achievement Day program, held Wednesday, August 7, at the First Congregational church, Des Plaines.

Miss Lingren modeled a red check midriff pajama, topped by a fitted white twill brunch coat, initialed in red, with quilted scuffies to match. This was Joan's first year in sewing and her 4-H leaders are Mrs. Eric Jung and Mrs. Edward Grewe.

The other young lady to share this honor with Joan is Miss Betty Linneman of Elk Grove who modeled a two piece dress of black crepe and white eyelet embroidery. Mrs. Wetterman is her leader. Ten year old Mary Mulvey of the Handy Pansies was a runner up.

Mrs. C. A. Hughes, presiding chairman of the 4-H of Cook County, opened the Achievement Day program. Besides the style show a program of vocal and piano solos, acrobatic dancing and food demonstrations were held. There were more than 100 girls modeling clothes they had made this summer.

Other local girls on the program were Lois Blaschke, who sang a solo, and Bonnie Peterson, who gave a humorous reading.

Emilie Giorno, Edward Wesolek exchange vows

Miss Emilie Giorno, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Giorno of Des Plaines and Edward Wesolek, Jr., son of Edw. Wesolek, Sr. of Wheeling, were the happy young couple to be married in a beautiful ceremony performed by Father Lavery in his home in Des Plaines Parish, at 5:30 p. m. Saturday, August 3, before relatives and friends.

The bride was beautiful in her white gown and veil. Her sister, Mrs. Josephine Lofthouse of Des Plaines served as her matron of honor and wore aqua, with yellow trim. Bridesmaids were the Misses Dorothy Strohm and Mary Zielinski, both of Chicago. They were dressed in yellow net with aqua trim. The bride's small niece, Judy Lofthouse, was the flower girl. She, too, was dressed in aqua and yellow and carried roses.

Arthur Wesolek, brother of the groom, was the best man. Frank Giorno, the bride's brother, and Earl Dueball, cousin of the groom, served as ushers.

A reception followed at 8:30 p. m. in the Rand Park fieldhouse, Des Plaines, with 600 guests attending. The young newlyweds spent a short honeymoon in Indiana.

DOROTHY DIBLE of Arlington Heights, who married Edward Rowe, Jr., Sunday.

Dorothy Dible, Edward Rowe, Jr., are married

One hundred fifty guests were present to witness the solemn vows of marriage taken by Miss Dorothy Fay Dible, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dible of Arlington Heights and Edward Peter Rowe, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rowe, Sr. of Oak Park, Saturday, August 10, in the Methodist church. The ceremony was performed by the bride's grandfather, Rev. J. B. Dible of Hurley, South Dakota, who was assisted by her uncle, Rev. Paul Dible of Aurora. The double ring, candlelight service was held before an altar banked with palms, candelabra, and white gladioli.

Miss Dible was given in marriage by her father, and she was attired in a white gown, fashioned with a lace top, having long sleeves. The full skirt, complete with train, was of net and satin with an overskirt of marquisette. A halo of orange blossoms held her fingertip veil in place. She carried an arm bouquet of white carnations and lilies of the valley.

Matron of honor was the bride's sorority sister, Mrs. William E. Geertz of Des Plaines. She was dressed in a pink marquisette dress, set off with a pink net head dress and she carried an arm bouquet of pink and white gladioli, scattered with blue bachelor buttons.

Serving as bridesmaids were Miss Virginia Wolf of Cincinnati, Ohio, and Miss LaVerne Rundquist of Chicago. Both wore gowns of blue marquisette and had head dresses of blue net. They carried the same flowers as the matron of honor.

Best man for the groom was Donald Boyes of Chicago and acting as ushers were William Geertz of Des Plaines, John Ross of Chicago and Robert Dible, Jr., brother of the bride.

Before the ceremony Miss Elsie Dible of Aurora, cousin of the bride, sang "My Hero" and "Oh Promise Me" and during the interlude in the service she sang "Oh Perfect Love". Mrs. Richard Lull accompanied Miss Dible at the organ.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors. The following ladies acted as hostesses: Mrs. E. J. Rahn, Miss Emily Hartnett, Miss Marjorie Morgan, Miss Margaret Allison and Mrs. Fritz Reeves.

Mr. and Mrs. Rowe are on a two weeks honeymoon in Northern Wisconsin and will be at home after August 26 at 530 So. Scoville, Oak Park.

Bernice Brumm and Raymond Hanson wed

Miss Bernice Brumm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Brumm, became the bride of Raymond Hanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hanson, all of Wheeling, Wednesday afternoon, August 7 at Northbrook. The Rev. Harry Lundell, pastor of the Presbyterian church of Northbrook, performed the ceremony before the fireplace in the parsonage living room at 2 o'clock p. m.

The bride was charming in her white bridal gown and three-quarter length veil. Her bridal bouquet was made up of lilies of the valley and tea roses.

The bridesmaid was her sister, Miss Elaine Brumm, who was dressed in blue and wore white carnations. The groom, who has just returned to civilian life from the navy, was attended by his friend, William Lee, also an ex-navy man.

The only guests to witness the quiet but beautiful ceremony were their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Brumm and Mr. and Mrs. Ann Roupelt. A reception followed in the evening and was held in the White Bear Lodge on Milwaukee avenue.

The young couple are honeymooning in a cottage on Fox Lake.

Darkened Fruits

A way to prevent the darkening of canned and frozen fruits is by adding ascorbic acid, the pure form of vitamin C, which improves the quality as well as the color. The ascorbic acid powder is particularly valuable for peaches and pears. Other frozen fruits, such as cherries, apricots and apples also show color and quality improvement when ascorbic acid is added before they are frozen.

Honored with pre-nuptial shower

Miss Jean Talbot of Palatine was honored at a miscellaneous bridal shower given by Alice Davie and Joan Thomas, at the former's home Saturday evening. Fourteen guests were present and the bride to be received many lovely gifts. Refreshments were served upon an attractively decorated table, centered with a huge cake and flowers.

Miss Talbot will become the bride of Victor Baumgart of Palatine tomorrow, Friday, at 8:15 p. m., in the Palatine Methodist church.

4-H Flashes

The Arlington Heights 4-H Flashes met at the home of their leader August 5 at 1:30 p. m. The meeting consisted of a talk given by Erica Jung on teeth and Joan Lingren on dieting. A demonstration was given by Margaret Walt on shoulder pads.

They were entertained at the meeting with several solos sung by Lois Blaschke and a humorous reading by Bonnie Peterson. Games were played and directed by Margaret Watt, recreation chairman, assisted by Lois Blaschke.

Refreshments were served by Joyce Drewes and Priscilla Britf. Gloria Haemker.

Engagement announced

Ever notice how a toy balloon will shrink to half its size over night, even though the stem is tightly sealed? Scientists explain how the air works its way through the rubber, but the point is, the same thing happens in a smaller degree with most all inner tubes. B. F. Goodrich is now making a new tube that holds air many times longer than prewar tubes. Constant air pressure gives tires better mileage and lessens the chances of damage from cuts and bruises. ## Champion jitterbugs

Commissioner William Busse presenting trophy offered by the Mt. Prospect State Bank to the area's best jitterbugs — Miss Varetta McAllen of Prospect Heights and her dancing partner, Joe Chantigney.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 16, 1946

Prospect Heights' 10th Anniversary fete made a big hit with the thousands of visitors attending its three day celebration last week end. Visitors were greatly impressed with the spacious level grounds, the various shows exhibits and the uniqueness of the "Howdy Neighbor! Enjoying Yourself?" salutations which they continually received from residents.

Attendance was estimated to have exceeded 8,000, despite the chilly weather, with visitors registering from such far away places as Los Angeles and Portland, Maine. The bulk of visiting guests came from neighboring villages of Arlington Heights, Palatine, Mundelein, Barrington, Wheeling, Des Plaines and the rural area although there were large numbers of rides coupled with chilly evenings creating a constant moving crowd averaging a half hour visit.

Daily doings commenced early Friday evening with a light attendance probably caused by the first rain in many weeks and the chilly evening atmosphere which followed. The cool weather threw a wet blanket on outdoor dancing and the jitterbug contests, but failed to spoil the enthusiasm for the Brownies doll exhibit.

The non appearance of ferris wheel, whip and flying scooter rides occasioned by business failure of concessioner cut deeply into the anticipated joy of youngsters as well as financial success of the fete. However, individuals in charge of the rides decided to accept the wrath of youth for safety sake, rather than hire fringe operators whose equipment might not be mechanically perfect.

Fulfillment of anticipated fun with gas filled balloons helped overcome youth disappointment over rides. Sales were made rapidly by Girl scouts and many a youth, who had been awed by the sight of balloons in the sky only a few weeks before, soon sent his balloon skyward. The popularity of souvenir balloons resulted in a complete sellout early Saturday evening. Another supply was quickly exhausted on Sunday afternoon.

Capture money spreader

Robert McQuinn, the money spreader experienced considerable difficulty Friday evening eluding the large number of people seeking his capture. His ability to shy away from his most persistent hunters taxed his elusive powers to capacity. With larger crowds other evenings his job was made much easier.

On Friday evening he had a hard time escaping both Mrs. W. A. DuFresne and Mrs. Gretchen Vohs. Later in the evening attempting to escape from Mrs. Vohs he walked right into the path of Mrs. DuFresne who greeted him properly. Ten minutes later Mrs. DuFresne was surprised to hear the good news. She was promptly paid $25 at the registration booth.

Saturday evening the money spreader flashed that he was having trouble escaping approximately twelve women who were literally combing the grounds. Fortunately the dance floor suddenly became popular and many hunters relaxed in their effort. A few minutes later he was caught off guard, as he watched the dancers, by Mrs. Hazel Gubbins, of Barrington, who with her sister Mrs. W. K. Andrew were combing the dance watchers. McQuinn had been approached only a few minutes before by Mrs. Gubbins who gave improper salutation so he made no effort to get away. She gave the proper remark this time and then moved rapidly away to salute Mark Webb whom she had just spotted wearing a Howdy Neighbor badge. When their number was announced as the winner both Mrs. Andrew and Mrs. Gubbins appeared, secured the $50 and split it "fifty-fifty".

Sunday evening's money hunt was almost a duplication of Saturday night's although the hunters were not so persistent. Miss Beverly Miller was the lucky individual who eventually outwitted the thoroughly chilled money spreader and was awarded $50 for her unrelaxed effort.

William Busse presents trophy to jitterbugs

Joe Chantigney, of Chicago, and Miss Varetta McAllen, of Prospect Heights, were designated as winners in the jitterbug dancing contest by the judges and were awarded the victory trophy donated by the Mt. Prospect State Bank. Presentation was made to the winners by the bank's president Commissioner William Busse who told Miss McAllen that he too was quite a dancer when in his youth.

Mrs. Frank Philander wins cake trophy

In the baking contest first prize ribbons were awarded Mrs. F. W. Philander, Mrs. William H. Cooper, Mrs. Byron H. Bohrer and Mrs. M. Tierney. Second prize ribbons were awarded Mrs. Wm. K. Andrew, Mrs. Michael DeMet, Mrs. Gretchen Vohs, Mrs. B. H. Bohrer and Mrs. Ralph J. Olson. Third prize ribbons went to Mrs. Howard Spens, Mrs. Charles Ledyard, Mrs. L. B. Ronk, Mrs. William Cooper and Mrs. W. K. Andrew.

Saturday evening the prize winning cakes were auctioned off to the highest bidder with Roy H. Borroughs, popular department store proprietor doing his usual good turn as master of ceremonies. Mr. Borroughs used good judgment in his clever way and secured over $50 for the bakery goods which were offered for sale.

The winged victory cup trophy, donated by Viola P. Spears, local editor of the Mt. Prospect Herald, was won by Mrs. Frank W. Philander for having baked the best cake. Presentation of the trophy was made by Viola P. Spears to Mrs. Philander during the auction.

Judges for both the bake and canning contest were Claradell Upham, Home Economics advisor, Cook County Home Bureau and Florence Bartlett, cook, Mt. Carmel high school.

35 ribbon awards in canning contests

Thirteen ladies in Prospect Heights won ribbon awards following the judging in the canning contest. Mrs. William H. Cooper won 7 awards, one first, five seconds and one third. Mrs. Carl K. Stehman secured six awards, five firsts and one third. Mrs. Clarence Petersen secured one first, a second and three third place ribbons. Mrs. Theodore

Brownie awards

In the Brownie doll story book exhibit Friday evening the winners were decided on the popularity basis with Carol Hedemark's "January" securing first place, Lois Petersen's "Bridal Party" winning second place honors, and Frances Gorsica's "Queen of Hearts" capturing third place. Altogether there were 16 entries.

Girl scout awards

In the Girl scout miniature flower show decorations, Virginia Carroll captured first prize, a cooking kit with her "Enchanted Garden" scene. Susan Siguart's "Lady Slipper Circle" won second prize and a fountain pen. Martha Probst's "Honeyhunters Paradise" and Vossilla Bohrer's "Marsh Scene" tied for third place and each were awarded aprons.

Winners in the Miniature table settings were Jane Ann Torreyson, first place, Janice Hendren, 2nd and Carol Hanley, third.

4-H baking awards

In the Friday evening 4-H baking contest Jane Ann Torreyson captured first prize honors in baking powder biscuits. Patricia Colby was second, Charlene Ledyard third, with Carol Hanley securing honorable mention.

In the Nut Bread class Susan Siguart won first place, Natalie Hanley second, Virginia Carroll third and Marilyn Gronfeldt, honorable mention.

In the Ginger Bread class, Joyce Palmer won first place honors, June Kritsch second, Judy Oakley third and Marilyn Perkins honorable mention.

Roy Goetschel wins greased pig chase

About thirty boys participated in the greased pig chase which proved to be one of the fete's most interesting events. Some of the youngsters came in overalls prepared for the scramble while others just took off their shirts to enter the free for all. F. E. Poor, who acted as the official starter, released the pig and did his best to get the animal moving. But the little pig recognized Mr. Poor as the man who had been caring for him during the past 24 hours and didn't take kindly to his hog calling. Eventually he was pounced upon by all of the youngsters ala football fashion. One by one all the boys came up from the pile and at the bottom was Roy Goetschel with both arms and legs securely around the pig.

On Sunday morning the pig was captured a second time. It seems Roy thought he had him locked up for the night but on Sunday morning he was among the missing. The second capture was made by young Bryce Meyer, whose dad, Herman Meyer, came to the rescue and securely tied the animal to a tree awaiting Goetschel's arrival.

Flower show winners

In the 3rd annual flower show conducted Sunday by the flower show committee headed by Geo. Westermann the judges made the following awards: Class A, dahlia, W. F. Despite every effort, the pipeline company which supplies natural gas to this area has been unable to obtain steel for additional construction before next winter. Due to this, plus the large increase in home use of gas...

Gas for New Space-Heating and Industrial Uses Must Be Restricted

TO PROTECT THE SUPPLY TO HOMES AND ESSENTIAL NEEDS

it became necessary to ask the Illinois Commerce Commission for authority to limit the delivery of gas as follows:

Space Heating. Delivery of gas for space heating during this emergency will be limited to (1) premises gas-heated last winter or those in which gas equipment was installed or being installed as of July 16, 1946, and (2) new homes completed or under construction as of same date, in which gas heating had been installed or specified.

Industrial. No delivery of gas to any new industrial customer who can reasonably use a fuel other than gas, nor to any new customer or additional load of an existing customer exceeding a specified amount.

In addition to the above restrictions on connecting additional loads, when necessary to safeguard the supply of gas to homes and to protect community health and safety, reduced deliveries of gas for industrial and commercial uses will be made effective during extreme winter weather, and residential customers will be called upon to hold their use of gas to a minimum.

Delays in carrying out the expansion of pipelines to bring additional natural gas to the area which had been planned for this year, plus the large increased demand for gas for home uses, make these restrictions in connecting additional load immediately necessary.

We sincerely regret the necessity for these limitations in gas service. You may be assured that restrictions will be lifted at the earliest possible moment.

OBITUARIES

Henry J. Pasch

Funeral services for Henry J. Pasch, 84, of Randolph, were held Tuesday morning at St. Theresa church. Mr. Pasch died August 10 after four months of ill health. He leaves his wife, a daughter, Mrs. Margaret Chiappetta of Mardian Woods, Prairie View, a son, Henry Jr., of Brookfield, one grandchild, a brother in Chicago, and three sisters in Germany.

Mr. Pasch was born May 9, 1889 in Crefeld, Germany. He married Miss Bertha Kleedorfer in September, 1918. In October 1923 he came to America, his family following 18 months later. He was a tool and die maker but seven years ago gave up that work and purchased a chicken farm on Rand road.

Anita Lauer

Services for Anita Lauer, 2 1/2 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Lauer of Mundelein, were held Tuesday morning from the St. Maria Del Popolo church in Mundelein. The child's uncle, Father Wilfred Lauer, sang the mass of Angelo. Interment was in All Saints cemetery.

Anita passed away Saturday and leaves to mourn besides her parents, a brother, Phillip, and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Lauer of Des Plaines.

CARD OF THANKS

The Frank H. Meyer family of Arlington Heights wish to express their grateful appreciation to their neighbors and friends, the Masonic order and Rev. Vondreck for the sympathy and many kindnesses shown during their recent bereavement.

Dairy Management

Good breeding and good feeding are primary considerations in building up a dairy herd. But there is a third essential—good management. Cows should be handled methodically, especially at feeding and milking times.

ADVISORY DEPT. OFFERS PUBLIC FUNERAL HELPS

The return of our Gold Star heroes by William H. Stirlen of Karstens Funeral Home

The Repatriation Program "ANSWERS TO YOUR QUESTIONS" will discontinue this week. I am sure the readers of this column have benefitted and derived the necessary information extended to you in regard to this program.

The advisory department of The Karstens Funeral Home has extended this information as a public service, in hopes that it might clarify the perplexing problems of Repatriation.

If there is still doubt in your minds concerning the Repatriation Program, and your questions aren't completely answered, feel free to contact our advisory department at any time, without cost or obligation, and further information will be extended.

We have ordered the attractive 16 page booklet entitled "Return of Our Gold Star Heroes", and in the near future will be available to the public, and to those concerned, without cost or obligation.

We hope these questions and the booklet may be of service to you.

"ANSWERS TO YOUR QUESTIONS"

Q. May a casket be opened upon its arrival at its destination?

A. Both military officials and civilian funeral directors strongly advise against it. The mortuary profession believes it would be much more comforting to the living to recall the departed as they were in life. The casket should not be opened at a funeral or memorial service. Furthermore, it is contrary to law in some states and cities to open caskets containing remains that have been disinterred.

Q. If the casket is not opened, how can the family be sure that it contains the proper remains?

A. The War Department is going to great care and is exercising extraordinary precautions to assure proper identification of remains that are repatriated. Men specially trained in identification work and aided by every device and technique known to science are identifying remains recovered from battle fields and remote places. The War Department has given assurance that NO REMAINS WILL BE RETURNED TO A NEXT OF KIN UNLESS THE IDENTIFICATION IS COMPLETE AND BEYOND THE QUESTION OF DOUBT. We are told that if there is even the least doubt of identification, the remains are classified as "unidentified."

Your local funeral director knows the pains to which the War Department goes to assure that every identification is positive and complete, beyond any question of doubt.

Q. If the next of kin prefers to have the remains transferred to another type casket than that used in the repatriation program will the government supply one?

A. No. Such a change of caskets will be entirely at the expense of the next of kin. However, the casket that will be used was chosen after extensive tests by the U. S. Bureau of Standards and is believed by the government to be the best obtainable for the purpose. Its plain design and superb workmanship stamps it with the dignity of traditional American funeral service.

Q. Is every deceased member of any of the armed forces entitled to a funeral with military honors?

A. Yes, if he or she died in service or had been honorably discharged.

Q. Is any charge made for a guard of honor or firing squad at a military funeral?

A. No.

Q. How is a military honor guard or firing squad obtained?

A. Local military authorities, officials of veterans' organizations, or any civilian funeral director will be happy to help obtain a military guard of honor or firing squad for a deceased person entitled to them.

The advisory department of the Karstens Funeral Home will offer from time to time, as a public service, interesting and helpful policies which will make this mortuary a comforting and friendly haven in time of need.

Weekly recipe

When Sunday visitors call just before supper time, there is no need for you to be upset if you're armed with a good waffle recipe. With this week's buttermilk waffle recipe you'll not have to be flustered or hurried. The recipe makes eight delicious, light, waffles.

Buttermilk Waffles

2 cups buttermilk

2 eggs

6 tbsps. melted butter

1 tspn. salt

1/2 tspn. soda

2 tbsps. water

4 tbsps. sugar

2 tbsps. double acting baking powder

2 1/2 cups emergency flour

Method: Dissolve the soda in the water and add to the buttermilk. Separate the eggs and add the yolks to the buttermilk mixture. Sift the salt, sugar, baking powder and flour together and add to the buttermilk mixture. Fold in the beaten egg whites. Lastly add the melted butter. Yield: 8 waffles.

Private industry can fill housing demand in 2 years

Private industry can end the extreme housing shortage within a year and a half to two years, Seward Mott, executive director of the Urban Land Institute of Washington, said Tuesday.

He addressed some 500 tradesmen and chamber of commerce secretaries from throughout the country at the 23rd annual National Institute for Commercial and Trade Organization Executives on the Evanston campus of Northwestern University. The five-day meeting will end Saturday.

Mott said that private builders can erect 1,500,000 housing units in a year — which will accommodate the "hardship" cases as compared with the 2,750,000 goal for the next two years set by housing expediter Wilson Wyatt.

He believes that the demand for housing will slacken faster than is generally believed, partly because the public does not have the purchasing power to fill its needs and partly because the rate of population increase is dropping sharply.

"The difference between housing need and demand should be clearly understood," he said. "After the two-year emergency period, Wyatt proposes building 1,000,000 units a year for ten years. However, in 1941, the builders had a hard time disposing of 450,000 units, although most of the homes were priced under $6,500."

Mott predicted that 500,000 to 750,000 units a year in that ten-year period will meet the demand.

"Many northern cities lost population between 1930 and 1940," he said. "Census figures show that the rate of population increase in the United States has dropped to one half of what it was 30 years ago and is now about three-fourths of one per cent increase a year."

He urged the building of more low-cost rental units in the country's building program.

"A large percentage of returning servicemen are not in the position to buy a home," he said. "A recent survey showed that 85

Motor club suggests widening of Higgins west from airport

To handle the greatly increased volume of traffic bound to develop with the opening of the new municipal airport at Douglas Field, two major highway improvements are being recommended by the Northwest Area Council of the Chicago Motor Club.

First, the council suggests widening of Higgins road, State Route 72, to either three or four lanes. Secondly, to handle traffic to and from the airport and the North Shore, the council proposes a new north-south highway. Both projects were added to the council's agenda at its regular monthly meeting held Thursday, August 8, at the Pantry in Park Ridge.

As discussed, the contemplated widening of Higgins road would extend from the airport to Dundee. Council members stressed the importance of the improvement being started simultaneously with the beginning of work on the new Northwest Super-Highway so that both projects could be completed at the same time.

Need for the proposed new north-south highway was stressed by A. P. Haake, mayor of Park Ridge, in a communication to the council. Mayor Haake pointed out in his letter that the road should be so located as to miss both Park Ridge and Des Plaines.

The Park Ridge official also asked the council's assistance in re-routing Ill. 12 which, he said, is greatly desired in an effort to eliminate the current bottleneck in the center of Park Ridge.

Civil service examinations

Through chemical research in elaborately equipped laboratories Uncle Sam is finding out how to make practical use of many by-products that heretofore were considered valueless.

Both American farmers and manufacturers are reaping the benefit of these new discoveries. Weeds and cornstubble go into vats and come out plastic buttons or fabrics.

To carry on and expand this field of research the government is constantly on the alert for up and coming young chemists who are ambitious to make new discoveries.

Today and through the week announcements are going out through the mails from the regional office of the U. S. Civil Service Commission in Chicago to post offices and other points in Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan that examinations are again to be held for chemists who are interested in appointment to permanent positions in the federal government.

Information and application forms may be obtained from the Director of the Seventh Region, U. S. Civil Service Commission, 433 W. Van Buren st., Chicago 7, Manager, Branch Regional Office of the Seventh Region, 410 Federal Bldg., Detroit 33, Michigan, or from any first or second class post office in which this announcement is posted.

Applications, according to the announcement, must be filled out and filed with the regional office not later than September 4, 1946.

Illinois vets prefer jobs to jobless pay

Illinois veterans have expressed a definite preference for jobs rather than a $20 weekly allowance for unemployment under the Servicemen's Readjustment Act. Samuel C. Bernstein, State Commissioner of Placement and Unemployment Compensation announced today.

In making this announcement Commissioner Bernstein pointed out that of the 304,000 Illinois GI's who filed claims for readjustment allowance benefits between V-J Day and July 13, 1946, a total of 215,500, more than 70 per cent, are no longer claimants. Only 782, less than three-tenths of one per cent of these, he said, had exhausted their full allowance entitlement.

Chicago leads state

In the Chicago area — Cook and DuPage Counties — Bernstein said that out of a total of 162,000 veteran claimants, 120,000, or 74 per cent, had discontinued their claims, with only 278, less than two-tenths of one per cent having drawn the full amount of their entitlement.

World Trade

A 20th Century fund report shows that from 1840 to 1929, the share of the United States in world trade rose from 2 per cent to 14 per cent, while the United Kingdom's share declined from 32 per cent to 14 per cent. Total world trade in the same period rose from 2.8 billion to 66.7 billion dollars.

Representatives of 100,000 Wisconsin youths, eager to show how they are helping to rebuild a world, will assemble at the Wisconsin State Fair in Milwaukee for their greatest Junior Fair August 17-25.

Four special days, devoted to youth, highlight the nine-day State Fair program. The first is on Monday, August 19, when Children's Day, honoring children under 12, will hold the spotlight. The second is 4-H Day, scheduled for Wednesday, August 21. Future Farmers and Future Homemakers will have their day on Friday, August 23, and Scout Day is scheduled for Saturday, August 24.

On these days, young people belonging to the groups designated will be admitted free to State Fair Park until 6 p.m. Reduced admission prices are expected to draw a record crowd to the big top circus acts and the Grand Circuit races, held in the grandstand, as well as to all the thrilling rides on the Midway.

On Scout Day, 21,000 state scouts will stage a gigantic free Scout Circus, featuring the finest Indian Acts, drill teams, drum and bugle corps in Scout circles, and other dramatic scout activities.

Hard work only method of clearing garden of weeds

August is the month in which weeds are especially difficult to control in the garden. The soil is no longer being prepared for planting. Many crops are being harvested, making cultivation with wheel hoes difficult if not impossible. And, too, the tempo of gardening is not so great as it was in May and June.

Recently a great deal has been said and written about the chemical control of weeds in lawns and gardens. Great progress has been made in controlling weeds in commercial carrot fields through the timely application of certain oil sprays. From Michigan come reports of success in controlling the weeds in commercial asparagus plantings through the application of cyanamid in dust form. Under certain conditions the weeds in commercial onion fields have been controlled with sulfuric acid. Under other conditions the onions as well as the weeds have been killed.

None of these methods is applicable to the mixed crops and mixed weed population of the home garden. Neither do the very wonderful 2-4-D materials, which are so effective against broad-leaved weeds in the lawn or on the golf course, have any place in the garden. There is no secret or magic method of controlling weeds in the garden. It can be done only by hard work and by keeping everlastingly at it. Don't let little weeds become big weeds is good advice in May and June. And it is equally good advice in August and September.

Since we are not concerned with the preparation of a seedbed in August, deep cultivation or hoeing is neither necessary nor desirable. Shallow cultivation or surface hoeing is all that is needed. A good and relatively lightweight steel hoe that can take and hold a sharp cutting edge will make the work easy. A heavy and dull hoe will make the task slow and laborious.

Manufacture of autos
halted by strikes

Efforts of General Motors to get its automotive facilities into full and continuous use are still being seriously hampered by current supplier strikes and by material shortages resulting from earlier nationwide strikes in some basic industries. C. E. Wilson, president of General Motors, said today.

Mr. Wilson pointed out that 55 supplier strikes affected General Motors' production last week, one less than the week previous. Of these strikes, 33 have been in progress for more than 60 days; 6 for more than 30 days; and 14 from one to 30 days.

General Motors produced 18,781 passenger cars in the U. S. last week, which was approximately 40 per cent of the car production achieved in the comparable week of 1941 when 46,309 cars were produced. "At this time in 1941 General Motors had produced 1,334,291 passenger cars in the United States," Mr. Wilson said. "So far this year we have produced only 207,500 cars, a loss of more than 1,000,000 passenger cars due to strikes. These are the million cars people need so badly and are waiting for so impatiently."

Currently the truck material situation has improved. Last week, 8,762 trucks were produced as compared with 10,566 for the comparable week in 1941. For the year to date General Motors has turned out 105,918 trucks compared with the 254,060 produced during the same period in 1941.

Must take care in cleaning new type garments

With the picnic and hot-dog season in full stride toward an all time high among vacation-hungry Americans, it is estimated that enough mustard and assorted relishes will be spilled on enough play clothes to supply every leopard in the nation's zoos with another suit of spots. May be even a two-pants suit.

And a lot of those stained garments will be ruined permanently, unless home cleaners avoid the pitfalls set by many of the new synthetic fabrics, according to American Institute of Laundering laboratories.

Cellulose-acetate rayon, for example, is widely used for warm weather clothing. Keep it clear of any solvents containing glacial acetic, formic or lactic acids, or acetone, the chemists advise. Such solvents will remove the spot — and the garment, too. They dissolve acetate. Nitric and oxalic acids may also disintegrate cellulose fibers, especially if permitted to dry into the fabric.

Any type of cleaner should be thoroughly rinsed from the material before it is dried or pressed, the experts caution. Even cleaning preparations which are harmless in their normal, dilute form become concentrated when allowed to dry into a fabric. In time, such concentrates may so weaken the cloth that some subsequent laundering is likely to "wash out" the spot where the stain was. Washables damaged in this manner cost Americans thousands of dollars annually, according to Institute technicians who conduct textile research for 4,000 laundries throughout the United States.

T.B. Declines

In 1926, 47.3 per cent of the school children tested in one investigation in well-selected grade schools showed a positive tuberculin test, but by 1944, the percentage of positive reactions had fallen to 7.7 per cent. Although a positive reaction to a tuberculin test does not necessarily indicate a case of tuberculosis, the effectiveness of tuberculosis control measures is best determined by the tuberculin test.

Petition to condemn 1200 acres for Deer Grove woods

Appeal made for more high school students

In three more weeks the Palatine schools will open. How many will enter high school? There is not another town in the state of Illinois which spends as much money as Palatine for its high school that has as small an enrollment. Are the parents to blame? Recently one of Palatine's brightest country boys started to work in a bank. His father is a member of our high school board. If the high school board members are not advocates of high school training, what future has this institution of public learning?

Road tips

The highway commissioners of Schaumburg ought to hire a practical superintendent to teach them how to build sensible roads. No public highway in this automobile age should have less than 16 feet of good driving space so rigs can safely meet or pass each other. Those narrow pikes, especially the one between the Center and Schween's Grove park should be widened before placing gravel or crush on them.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

Attorneys for the Forest Preserve District of Cook County filed a petition last week to condemn the 1200 acres of woodland for the proposed Forest Preserve District No. 1 at Deer Grove. Judge Brentano has given this case precedence on his docket and it will be called early in September. In fact subpoenas for over 80 have already been issued and 70 more are on the way.

The territory, comprising 1,200 acres, takes in all the woodland south of the county line between the Palatine-Lake Zurich and the Barrington-Lake Zurich roads that lie north of the Schoppe road, with the exception of land that is not woodland.

The price to be used in the condemnation proceedings is based on the sale of the Elia property to Mr. Lindley of Lake Forest at $62.50 per acre. Official offers have been mailed to all the owners of property at $70. However we understand that those who have signified their willingness to sell at $90 an acre have been given contracts at that price at the Palatine Bank.

Judging from the few sales of Deer Grove woodland that have occurred in recent years, the price of $90 an acre appears to be very liberal, and the county commissioners would be wasting the public's money were they to pay more. The only exception to this is the matter of the tracts which are used for farming purposes by Messrs. Schoppe, Museler, Hartz, Elfrink, Schoppe Estate (Neitz) and the Weseman Estate farm.

Du Page county day

John Barleycorn is dying a long, hard lingering death. He has made a desperate fight for his existence but is now panting for breath. In a few years he will be laid out on a cold slab in the morgue and eventually be buried in the Potters field.

DuPage county will hold an Anti-Saloon League field day September 10 with a speaker for the League in nearly every pulpit which cooperates with the League and thus assist in the execution of that enemy of society, John Barleycorn.

Paving job goes ahead

Considerable interest is being shown about Arlington Heights in the manner in which the Standard Paving Co. is handling the paving job, and as each day goes by, the pessimists are becoming fewer and fewer. Even the sight of those long stretches of cement curbing has caused some of the biggest property owners, who formerly opposed the improvement, to look with pride on the work.

Tales of the STREET

BY T. C. HART

RAIN AT LAST

The rain finally came and farmers and gardeners were feeling a whole lot happier Friday morning after the "million dollar" soaker, that came just in time to save a lot of the corn crop and freshen up the gardens. Our farmers were a pretty blue bunch of fellows as week after week of that dry weather held on, but Friday, after that rain, their spirits rose with a bound. Corn fields that were firing and drying up started to come back to life, pastures that were burned, started to freshen up again and the whole world had a brighter outlook following that rain.

What if some of the corn had been blown down by the wind? "Never mind that, it rained," said one farmer. And another added, "Yes the corn was probably damaged a lot but we'll get a pretty good crop yet after that rain." The home gardeners also got a thrill out of that rain as it filled up some of those yawning cracks in their gardens.

Tomato plants which were drying up fast and failing to set their blooms showed signs of late improvement. The tomatoes, like the corn, were damaged but now at least there will be some. Root crops, like beets and carrots were also benefitted, lima beans showed a new lease on life, summer squash plants, which were about ready to give up the ghost, came back to life and started to bloom again, promising a later crop.

FALL GARDENS

And the rain gave the home gardeners hope that a fall garden might yet be possible. That dry weather, with the garden burning up had taken about all their garden pep out of us for this year. The rain brought back some pep and we got out early the other morning and cleared off a lot of the old dried up early crops, fertilized the soil, worked it up and started planting the fall garden.

Now with a little timely rain here and there, there will still be a late crop of vegetables in the garden.

CRIB BUSTER

While we are on the subject of crops we've got another corn story. It seems that all the good corn fields aren't on the big farms. Some of these small acre farmers also have some great corn. For instance, the other day Ray Fredricks out there in Plum Grove was in town and was telling about some corn he had, where the stalks were ten feet tall and the ears 16 inches long. We just figured we'd like to see that corn, so that afternoon Mayor Bill DePue and myself drove out to look at it. Sure enough there it was, a fine stand of corn on a couple of acres of good soil. "How many ears should there be on a stalk?" asked Fredricks. "I'm a greenhorn at this business."

When told that one or two good ears was about all he could expect he proudly said that a lot of his corn had three ears to a stalk. When asked what variety his corn was he said it was called "crib buster".

While we were at Fredricks' place we spotted another nice looking small field of corn near his home that we found out belonged to Bill Bierman. We met Bill the next day and when we mentioned his corn field he immediately claimed it was the best field of corn around these parts. He didn't know what variety it was but it was some kind of hybrid and four ears to a stalk on a lot of it. So neighbor Fredricks will have to put a little extra "bust" on his crib buster corn of three ears to a stalk if he's going to keep pace with "farmer Bill" across the street.

END OF THE ROAD

There is always something depressing in seeing a good athlete come to the end of his career through the burden of advancing years and the ambitious charge of undeniable youth. But such things happen every day in baseball, football, pugilism and in every other sport. Next year I'm going to put myself on the retired list in this baseball business," said Gray Sanborn the other day as he announced his coming retirement as a soft ball player.

A couple of nights before we had seen a game that looked like "the end of the trail" for Gray, noted for years as the best and most able soft ball pitcher in Palatine. In that game Gray was pitching for the Smith team against the Engelkings in a desperate effort to keep the Smiths in the fight for the second season on championship. For about four innings Gray was master of the situation and his team was out in front by a close score and then came the blow off.

The Engelkings started with a pop fly that the boys waited to see who else was going to get it and a couple of drives over an outfielder's head, who was playing too close in, didn't help Gray any, but the Engelkings were hot and in the late innings plastered the ball all over the field.

As Gray said, "the old arm just wasn't there," and so it was curtains and the end of the road for a soft ball pitcher who for years had been the terror of every team that faced him. When the season started, Gray intended to play in the "old man's" league but when that league failed to get going he went in with the youngsters and all in all had a good season. But the charge of youth just wasn't to be denied and that, coupled with the march of time, brought Gray, as he himself admits, "to the end of the trail."

Oh well, Gray, after going on the voluntary retired list, can still get a big kick out of bowling. Maybe he'll play golf, and anyhow, he can still be the dignified president and guiding genius of the Consolidated school district, so why worry about baseball. He can bow himself out and rest, content with the glories of the past.

READING & WRITING
BY Edwin Seaver and Robin McKown

PEOPLE for whom money is the most important thing in life are inclined to look askance at those who have a different sense of values. In fact, a man who turns down cold cash for such intangibles as independence and personal contentment, may seem a downright freak to his more mercenary neighbors.

At least, this is what happens in Ruth Moore's picturesque novel of a Maine seacoast village, "Spoonhandle." When Miss Moore's hero, Willie Stilwell, refuses to sell the lovely Spoon Island bequeathed him by his father to wealthy Mr. Witherspoon for $3,000, the so-called "substantial" members of the community decide that he is mad. But when Mr. Witherspoon (who wanted to rename it Witherspoon Island) unaccountably ups his price to $15,000, and Willie still is disinterested, they really are speechless. Nor can anyone accept the simple truth of his not selling—that he likes living there himself.

"Spoonhandle" is the story of the Stilwell family—Pete, the greedy storekeeper, his foolish sister Agnes, and the two younger brothers, Hod and Willie, who are cut of a different cloth. Miss Moore has the gift of catching the individual speech of her Maine characters. She was brought up in a fishing village such as she describes.

For October, the Book-of-the-Month Club has selected T. H. White's "Mistress Masham's Repose," a fantasy about Lilliputian folk today. Mr. White, an English writer, first made his reputation in this country with another fantasy-satire, "Sword in the Stone," a Book-of-the-Month Club selection in 1939.

Newspaper men have somehow acquired a reputation for eccentric behavior. Occasionally this characteristic reaches all the way up to the publishers, says Joseph Mackey, an old newspaper man himself, in "The Froth Estate." He tells of one eminent publisher who once visited his city room and found a stout man as one of his city desk executives. Having a strong aversion to avoidpous, he summarily discharged the man on the grounds that he was too fat. Some of the officials of the city room realized that the man's journalistic value outweighed his figure and decided to keep him on anyway. Whenever the publisher was known to be descending from his top-floor habitat, however, word was rushed to the fat man, and he would hide in the cloakroom.

Takes paper to task for failing to keep the local public informed

PAPER MUST LEAD

I'm not a paid up subscriber of the Register because I don't consider the paper very "enlightening" to the "masses" of DuPage county. However, I had a spark of hope when mention was recently made of Lucas' complaints on the voters' letters with which he was being swamped. Since then I've read nothing to inform the low income people of what is going on within the county.

Recently there was a public hearing about distribution of surplus state money to DuPage county. It was held on a week day at the township clerk's office — a day when a working man could not attend. You published a nice story when the money was turned over to county authorities, but no mention has since been made of the use of that money.

National magazines and big city dailies serve their readers with information and exposes about political doings, many times beneficial to the common masses. But the uneducated masses in DuPage county always feel it is not meant for them. They look to the local paper to give them the truth about local affairs.

There are many instances of politicians pulling the wool over the eyes of the masses and it is up to your paper to inform the public, giving them the unbiased truth. Attitude of the local people is just like that of the French and Poles, and they, too, discovered the truth too late.

Inform the people. Tell them the truth. And impress upon them their duties as citizens in keeping up with the affairs and the politicians at home. It is up to you and them to keep our way of life here at home.

Mrs. A. F. Wetzel,
RR1, Elmhurst.

Your weekly treat recipe

Several years ago while lunching at a small New England restaurant I noticed Spice Cake listed as one of the desserts. Being especially fond of it, I ordered one cake. It was so unusually delicious that I asked for the recipe — and here it is for you. It has been carefully tested, and has been well received — see how you like it.

Spice Cake
½ cup butter
1 cup sugar
1 whole egg
1 egg yolk
1 cup buttermilk
½ tspn. vanilla
1 tspn. cinnamon
½ tspn. soda
2 tspns. water
2 cups emergency flour
1 tspn. baking powder
½ tspn. salt
½ tspn. cloves
½ tspn. allspice
¼ tspn. nutmeg
Method: Cream the butter and add the sugar. Add the whole egg and egg yolk and mix well. Dissolve the soda in the water and add to the buttermilk. Sift the dry ingredients and add alternately with the buttermilk mixture to the first. Bake at 350 degrees for thirty minutes. Use extra egg whites for frosting. Yield: Two 8 inch layers.

It Happened Here

They bring their young broods to the lawn and the feeding station for us to see and approve; robins come first and unless we have missed our count we have met three broods this season. The young of the first brood seem to find it hard to make adjustments to their new environment; they are surly and suspicious and will perch on the gate all ruffled and with wings like immigrants, stolid and watchful, with their bundles under their arms; but once naturalized, boy, O boy! they are the most arrogant and domineering birds at the bath. The cardinals have just brought the two tieclings of their second brood to the back door and a handsome, more irresponsible pair you never saw; they were two in the first brood, too, and that makes four extra cardinals for the Chicago area. The brown thrushes brought their two for just one day of sporting on the lawn; now only the parents show themselves. The day the flickers brought their family for inspection there was high carnival on the lawn; at one time we counted seven making free with the premises. They clung to the clothes poles, the big tree and the bath and searched the lawn greedily for ants, showing "ke-e-r! ke-e-r!" at the top of their voices, disturbing sensible naps, but we like a noisy lawn.

ASKS APOLOGY

I think that the person who recently handed in an item about a certain "very attractive lady of Palatine" should apologize. She does not consider herself attractive and was very much hurt. This lady is just a good sport and is always willing to help a friend. So let's give her credit instead of talking about her. Many things have been said about her which are not true.

JUST AROUND the CORNER

Dear Jane:
Have you ever wondered what the 4-H Club stands for? It wasn't until this week at the annual McHenry County Achievement Day that I learned.

The show was held on the grounds of Woodstock Community High School, with boys and girls from all over the county displaying the various activities in which they participate as members. Their projects are varied, but all pertain, more or less, to life on the farm.

The boys quite naturally showed livestock that they personally had raised, while the girls demonstrated their ability to set table, cook, can, and sew a "fine seam".

Cousin Georgia and I were there, principally, to see her fourteen-year old daughter exhibit a cotton evening dress. It is the first dress she has made, and much to her and our delight, it won a coveted blue ribbon. It also gives her the opportunity to be one of a few from this community to attend the State Fair now in progress at Springfield, Illinois, where she again will exhibit her project as a member of the "Humming Sewers".

I couldn't help but think as these young girls paraded in apparel of their own making, that the 4-H clubs would have been a boon in my girlhood. To this day, I can't turn a proper hem, and I'd never in the world attempt a tailored suit such as I saw exhibited by several teenagers in the show at Woodstock on Tuesday.

I think their pledge is inspiring and noteworthy: "I pledge my head to clean thinking, My heart to greater loyalty, My hands to larger service, My health to better living—"

Can't you think of a dozen other things you'd rather do on a hot afternoon than attend a circus? I know I can. But, is there anything dearer to a little boy's heart than time spent under the Big Top?

Rob says he wouldn't think of denying George and Edward these happy memories any more than he could Bob and Jack, who, incidentally, went annually to the circus some years ago with their parents when Father and Mother were a bit younger than they are now. I should talk — why, we even saw a white haired grandmother driving her grandchildren in her car to the parking lot just before show time, and she looked pretty nimble and gay, let me tell you.

Well, to be honest, all five of us enjoyed the big circus in Soldier's Field yesterday afternoon, though, I kept thinking it would be a lot more fun if Bob, Jr. were with us as in the good old days.

I think we agreed that the animal performances are best to our liking. George and Edward continually laughed out loud during the sea lion act, and the amazing performance of that equine movie star, "Starless Nite", was worth the price of the entire show to lovers of horses. It is said that nothing is prized more highly by circus folk themselves than a fine, loyal, intelligent horse.

THE MAILMAN'S CORNER

by LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

Most of the misery that I see about me is brought about because folks fail to realize the importance of the little things in life. People become so engrossed with their own affairs that they fail to do and say the things that will not only decrease the misery and unhappiness in their own lives, but will add to the happiness of others about them.

I have a man on my route who has an affliction in his feet. I have never yet heard this man complain because he is unable to get around as well as those who are not so handicapped. Indeed he has told me more than once that he is resigned to his misfortune, and refuses to add the sum of his suffering to the worries and hardships of others.

Because a man does not complain seems to be of little importance to others at first. But how many times have you and I been bored by people who talk continuously about their doctors, their operations, the medicines they take, and their pitiful state of health. Listening to people's health is always discouraging, and particularly when there is nothing that you can do to help them.

Folks who are forever bragging of their ability, about their children, their home, their education, are a nuisance, too. Try to tell them, however modestly, of your own accomplishments, and watch the far away look come into their eyes as they try to suppress a yawn. They just aren't interested in you — their whole lives are centered in themselves — and unless you appear to make much of their fancied superiority, they are not only disappointed in you — they are downright disgusted with you.

But there are folks who have a cheery word for everyone. A kind word of praise costs little effort on your part, but means a great deal to others. It is one of the little things in life that makes for happiness.

I know a lady who makes it a point never to criticize another person before anyone. Because she always speaks well of others, she gains their confidence and love, and is in a real way to make life happier for them.

Yes, it is the little things in life, the kind words, the cheery smile, the consideration we show others that takes the sting out of disappointment, and gives a lift in times of discouragement. Little things that cost so little, yet mean so much.

Arlington men in all-star game Friday

ART ESP

GAIL BACH

JOE VUGLAR

BOB WILLE

Three of the four Arlington Heights players of the Poole Fords, Merle Guild post's entry in the Legion ball tournament which almost won a state championship, will appear this Friday night in the north vs. south all-star game in Comiskey Park, Chicago. Art Esp, Gail Bach and Joe Vuglar are the boys represented the local team in the game of all games. The boys deserve a lot of credit for the fine work all year long and were so honored by their nomination to the north side squad. It would help a lot to have a fine turnout at this game to help cheer these boys on. Remember that these three players, plus the rest of Arlington's fine team, brought the town a great honor and almost a state championship. Game time for this Friday night is set for 8:30 p. m. with a good crowd expected. Early arrival is necessary for a choice selection of seats. Every Legion post on the north side is represented by at least one player in the game.

Bears vs. Giants to benefit army, navy veterans

Chicago's greatest afternoon of football of the year will come on Sunday afternoon, September 1 when the two largest and possibly the two strongest elevens in the National Football League, the Chicago Bears and the New York Giants will clash at Wrigley Field for the benefit of the men still remaining in the army, the navy and the army air forces.

The game will present two of the most powerful lines ever assembled, plus football's most spectacular runner, George McAfee of the Bears, along with two of the greatest passers the game has ever known — Sid Luckman of the Bears and Frank Filchock of the Giants.

Men with surpassing excellence, such as George McAfee has, never can be seen in enough games, and the September 1 game will present this star, who has been rated by many outstanding football men, as the greatest break-away runner of all times, in an added starter, as it could be put.

In this game the reconstructed Bears will be making their first appearance since the return from the wars of Captain George Halas, U.S.N.R., owner and coach of the team. Just before the war began, the Bears were on the peaks, the greatest team ever assembled. The war broke up this combination, but now it is back together again and the fans are waiting to see whether they still have their old magic. The game September 1 will supply the answer.

All seats are reserved at Wrigley Field for this game and tickets may be purchased in advance by sending check or money order to Football Ticket Manager, Room 205, 326 W. Madison st. Tickets, $4.80 boxes; $3.60 grandstand; $2.40 north and east stands.

Scholarships

Forty students from the Chicago area have been awarded scholarships for 1936-47 at the University of Illinois.

Mae Bertha Grupe, R1, Roselle, Donna Joyce Holzman, 148 N. Fremont st., Palatine and Norene Evelyn Potter, 166 S. York st., Bensenville, were among 68 students at the University who have been awarded LaVerne Noyes scholarships for 1946-47.

Made available under the will of LaVerne Noyes, wealthy manufacturer whose son was killed in World War I, the Noyes scholarships are awarded to World War I veterans or their descendants.

Refusal to wear numbers costs 11 pro golfers $1800

Golfers who refused to wear identifying numbers in the recent All-American tournaments at Tam O'Shanter lost $1,862.96 in prize money thereby, according to George S. May, president of Tam O'Shanter and head of the business engineering firm that bears his name. After the starting field of 456 was reduced to 254 in qualifying rounds (175 pros, 44 amateurs, 35 women), the survivors for the tournament proper were given the choice of wearing or not wearing numbers, the number-wearing pros becoming thereby eligible for prizes 15.4 per cent larger in the case of each money winner. Only 11 of the 254 players refused, all eleven being pros. Names of these players, with sums they lost by not wearing numbers, are as follows:

Ellsworth Vines, $674.00; Ben Hogan, $337.50; Claude Harmon, $153.12; Jimmy Demaret, $166.50; Dick Metz, $166.50; Toney Penna, $128.25; Joe Kirkwood, Jr., $49.53; Fred Haas, Jr., $49.53; Gene Sarazen, $49.53; George Fazio, $43.75; Joe Kirkwood, Sr., $43.75.

Mr. May believes that inasmuch as a large percentage of spectators at any large tournament know few or none of the players by sight, the contestants should wear identifying numerals corresponding with numbers on the printed program, as in football and baseball. This contribution to the pleasure and convenience of the cash customer is especially necessary, he feels, at the All-American meets with their colossal galleries which this year exceeded 152,000.

Mr. May's requirement that numbers be worn during the 1942 All-American meets was vigorously opposed by a few players, who withdrew in protest, arguing that number-wearing detracted from the traditional dignity of the game. But this year Mr. May solved the problem by making number-wearing optional and applying one of the major principles of his business — wage incentives — to produce the desired results.

Signs of cancer easy to recognize, can be cured
One out of every eight deaths during the past year were caused by cancer, according to figures compiled by the American Cancer Society. Yet, with present-day medical knowledge one third to one half of these deaths could have been avoided.
What is cancer? It is not a germ or virus disease, the American Cancer Society points out. It is a wild, uncontrolled growth of the individual's own body cells, lawless "gangster" cells that infiltrate the surrounding area and, if not removed or destroyed in time, break off and travel in the blood stream or in the lymphatic fluids to other locations, causing secondary cancers. The result is all too often death to the individual by mechanical blocking of vital passageways or other breakdown in the functioning of vital organs at the primary or secondary site of the cancer.
Your hope of cure, if you have cancer, is early diagnosis and treatment. Consult a doctor immediately if you notice any of these danger signals: (1) Any sore that does not heal, particularly about the tongue, mouth or lips. (2) A painless lump or thickening, especially in the breast, lip or tongue. (3) Bloody discharge from the nipple, or from any of the natural body openings. (4) Progressive change in the color or size of a wart, mole or birthmark. (5) Persistent indigestion. (6) Persistent hoarseness, unexplained cough, or difficulty in swallowing. (7) Any radical change in normal habits of elimination.
These symptoms may be due to other causes besides cancer, but it's better to be safe than sorry. The Illinois Division of the American Cancer Society maintains an information service at 139 North Clark Street, where free literature on cancer is available and also information concerning facilities for the diagnosis and treatment of cancer. This is one of the services financed by contributions to the Society's recent drive for funds.

Quality Milk Means More Profit To Farmer; Larger Consumer Sales
By IRA MILLER
Farm Electrification Bureau
Universally accepted as a basic and fundamental food, milk has become big business for thousands of dairy farmers who strive, not only for quantity, but quality production.
and then subjected to a sterilization process or treated with a chlorine solution immediately after use.
To effectively and economically clean equipment, farmers need a plentiful and dependable supply of hot water available in the milk house where it can be drawn as needed. If hot water is carried from the farm residence to the milk house, the amount used and its temperature upon arrival may not be satisfactory for best purposes. Also, if dairy utensils are washed in the residence, considerable time is wasted. Records kept over a 90-day period on one farm showed that an average of 12 minutes was spent carrying dairy equipment from the barn to the house to be washed and that an additional 23 minutes daily were lost from household chores by the housewife in cleaning the utensils.
In order to provide the most practical and economical means of heating water in the milk house, many farmers have turned to electricity. A number of different types of electric water heaters are available. Some operate in connection with water pressure systems and others, of the replacement type, do not require running water. Types are available which combine washing troughs and tanks, while others include attachments for sterilizing utensils after they have been washed.
The cost of operating dairy water heaters is low in comparison with results obtained. A test made on an electrified 120-acre Ohio dairy farm, producing 208,948 gallons of milk annually, showed that the electric water heater in use there consumed only $25.31 worth of electricity in heating 1,856 gallons of water over a year's time. Generally, dairy water heaters consume 15 kilowatt hours of power per 100 gallons, while from 3 1/2 to 7 1/2 kilowatt hours of power per day are required to sterilize dairy utensils used when milking a herd of from 10 to 40 cows.

Big Cities Grow
When Chicago was incorporated in 1837, the city boasted 550 inhabitants as compared with New York's 202,589 for the same period. In 1860, New York had increased to 805,658 while Chicago was still behind with 300,000 in 1870. The 1890 census showed 2,507,414 for New York and 1,099,850 for the Windy City. In 1920, the "champ" widened its margin to 5,620,048 against 2,701,705 in Chicago and according to the last official tabulation in 1940, New York was ahead by over 4 1/2 million.

Rise covers subsidies
See no collapse of farm prices tho' OPA is back
Prices of farm products will not collapse before August 21 or soon afterwards. There will be some downward adjustments caused by changes in supply and demand factors and possibly a few adjustments caused by OPA regulations. It is quite likely that farm product prices will not rise more than enough to offset subsidies that are withdrawn, and that OPA will set few ceilings below current prices after subsidies are taken into consideration. In fact, many prices are now higher than June prices plus subsidies. Supply and demand conditions — not price ceilings — will be the dominating influence on farm prices from now on.
The Price Decontrol Board has until August 20 to decide what farm product prices shall be subject to control. It is not supposed to order reconrols unless prices have risen unreasonably (more than offsetting the subsidies) or unless the commodities are in short supply or the public interest would be served. Chairman Roy L. Thompson said that "the quicker we can find the possibility of getting things out from under price controls, the sooner we can arrive at the situation we're all looking for." Maximum prices can be applied only to farm commodities certified by the Secretary of Agriculture as being in short supply. That means that by December grains probably will be exempt.
The Secretary of Agriculture can make sure that maximum prices are high enough to encourage production of farm products that are in short supply. After December 31, 1946, the Secretary of Agriculture can force the OPA to remove ceilings on prices of farm commodities not important in relation to business costs or living costs. Under this provision of the law, many specialty crops probably will be decontrolled if not already omitted from price control entirely. Even for farm commodities on which it is deemed necessary to establish maximum prices, the Secretary of Agriculture is really in control. Secretary Anderson is sympathetic with the farmers' insistence on reasonable prices, and his recommendations are likely to be liberal.

3,000 farmers read these pages 52 weeks of the year

Many dairy herds show presence of mastitis

Ninety-five percent of all Illinois dairy herds have undoubtedly had infectious mastitis in them at one time or another. That's the estimate of J. O. Alberts, University of Illinois College of Veterinary Medicine, based on a survey made two years ago in 121 herds which showed 95 percent of the herds and 45 percent of the cows infected.

But less than one-half of the infected cows showed clinical evidence of the disease. Mastitis isn't so spectacular as Bang's disease, and it is much less serious from a public health standpoint—but it's ordinarily more serious from an economic standpoint. For example, Alberts says mastitis is the most costly and wasteful disease affecting the dairy cattle industry. Mastitis-infected cows don't produce to their maximum efficiency—many become unprofitable and are shipped to slaughter. This causes the farmer to lose both time and money.

Records indicate that usually a complete turnover of cows in the milking line occurs every five years—and mastitis is an important factor in this 20 percent yearly change. A healthy cow doesn't attain maximum production until the fourth or fifth lactation period, so it's not difficult to see what a situation of this kind does to the breeding and production records.

Since the mastitis control was begun in April 1944, more than 12,000 cows have been examined periodically for evidence of infectious mastitis. And Alberts reports that incidence has been reduced 45 percent when preventive and control measures have been employed in the herd for three months or longer.

"While some farmers are having success with penicillin in the control of mastitis," states Farm Adviser C. A. Hughes, "We hope such farmers will not allow prevention to be neglected and depend on treatment for a cure. A cow is injured even though she can sometimes be cured if found in time."

Essential to Growth

Vitamin A is essential for growth. A deficient supply of this vitamin leads to weakening of the body tissues and increased susceptibility to bacterial infection, particularly the epithelial tissues. A deficiency of this vitamin has been found to affect the eye.

Low pastures ahead warns Alexander

"The most critical part of the pasture season is right ahead of us," warns M. H. Alexander, associate in dairy husbandry at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

"Bluegrass, the principal pasture in Illinois, is at its poorest during July and August and early September," declares Alexander, "and if farmers haven't planted a supplemental pasture they should do so now."

A Sudan and soybean mixture is suggested by the dairy expert. Such a pasture will be ready for grazing in a month and will last until the end of September.

If farmers can't get their Sudan in right away, however, they should make plans for alternate grazing on the bluegrass pasture. The bluegrass needs time to recuperate, he points out. If alfalfa or clover is available, cattle can be turned to it while the bluegrass picks up.

Plans should be made this year, says Alexander, so that next year continuous pastures will be available. "There is probably no other single thing that you can do that will be equal to this in increasing your profits from your dairy herd."

Readers may request Illinois Bulletin 505 from the College of Agriculture at Urbana for further information on pasture improvement.

Agricultural Liens — A lien has been defined as a claim against specific property for the payment of a debt arising out of some service rendered to the property. In Illinois the legislature has stated that when persons render certain services they shall have a lien against the thing on which the service was rendered, until the charge is paid. If the charge is not paid, the lien may be foreclosed and the property sold to satisfy the debt. Examples of such liens are those given to a mechanic for work done on an automobile or tractor and those given to a materialman for the lumber purchased to build a house or barn.

Because of their nature, some of these statutory liens have been designated as agricultural. In Illinois there are several such liens. Stable keepers or persons keeping, yarding, feeding or pasturing domestic animals for others have a lien against the animals for feed and labor. Threshermen, clover hullers, cornshellers and hay balers have a lien good for eight months against the crop threshed, hulled, shelled, or baled. Laborers, including farm hands, have preferred or prior liens for wages in cases where the employer becomes insolvent. The owners of stallions and jacks registered with the State Department of Agriculture have a lien for the service fee against the mare or jennet and the progeny. To secure the benefit of this lien, the owner of the stallion or jack must file with the county recorder a claim for lien in writing and under oath.

When the commissioner of noxious weeds has to go on a person's land and destroy noxious weeds, the county has a lien against the land for the expense involved, and if the owner does not pay the expenses the lien can be foreclosed and, if necessary, the land sold. Similarly, taxes, drainage assessments and other public charges against property constitute liens against such property until they are paid.

Farm landlords have a statutory lien for rent, existing against crops grown on the rented land. This lien will be discussed separately in a later number.

The laws referred to above may be found in the Illinois Revised Statutes, chapter 8, sections 25, 27, 28 and 51-61; chapter 18, section 3, and chapter 82, sections 58-59a.

Commemorate Fort Dearborn massacre

On Thursday, August 15, 134th anniversary of the Fort Dearborn Massacre, visitors to the Chicago Historical Society will find a new exhibit in which the story of that tragic event is graphically related.

A replica of the Fort Dearborn blockhouse provides the setting for a series of exhibit cases in which the story of the fort, from the days when its site was Indian country to the time when it was a heap of charred logs, is told in chronological order. In these cases the visitor sees the stone knives and arrowheads used by the Indians before the coming of the white man.

Plans of the first Fort Dearborn, equipment of soldiers stationed there, and silver trinkets used in trade with the Indians, represent the years from 1803 to 1812, when the fort was destroyed. Personal mementoes of survivors of the Massacre, and medals given to the Indians who participated in it, recall the tragedy itself.

Fancy prices for fancy Yorkshires

A new world's record price for the Yorkshire breed was set today at the Curtiss Candy Company Farms' 2nd Yorkshire Bred Gilt Sale when the bred gilt Curtiss Candy Proud Beth 274 was purchased by Fuller Brothers of Oconomowoc, Wis. The sale price was $635, according to Otto Schnering, president of Curtiss.

The second-high gilt, Curtiss Candy W. Deb 256, was purchased by William Y. Gilmore Jr. of Oak Park for $535.

The average price of the 43 Curtiss-owned Yorkshires in the sale was $222.90.

The sale was held at Curtiss Candy Company's Farm No. 711, near Cary.

WE URGE YOU TO KEEP

Shortage of Parts Ties Up New Car Production

New car dealers are finding themselves continually on the spot because they cannot make deliveries. The fact is there are no cars to deliver. They just aren't being produced. It is estimated that the main production plants of the industry have lost three months of the current year due to strikes. Although these have been settled, strikes in supplier plants have been holding total car production to a minimum. Furthermore, the demands of all business for steel have created a shortage which will hold down car production for some time to come. The leaders of the industry are hopeful that the situation will improve during the coming months. However, with the current demand set at about 12 million cars and the industry's best previous yearly record of production only 3 million cars, you can see for yourself that a lot of people are going to have to wait. ## Repair Your Old Car Without Delay - Come In Now For Checkup

If you have to have your car in your business or in earning your livelihood, our advice is to keep it in shape. Cars are wearing out at a faster rate than ever before . . . and they are not being replaced. A survey showed last week that 43% of cars on Illinois highways are defective. Hundreds of cars are being junked every day. On the basis of the present situation it is foolish to neglect your automobile. DO TWO THINGS: 1. Have your car serviced regularly WITHOUT FAIL. 2. Drive in to one of the reliable dealers listed below and have your car checked from bumper to bumper for mechanical or other defects. If needed, HAVE REPAIRS MADE AS SOON AS POSSIBLE. A checkup in time not only saves you money but in many cases will save the life of your car itself. We urge you to drive carefully . . . at moderate speeds . . . and in every way possible guard your car from excess wear.

V-J Day 1... V-J Day 2 — Quick Change In 12 Months

This week, August 14, 1946, the world looks back on a year of freedom from global war. It has been a critical and dramatic year, in many senses more critical and dramatic than the horrendous years that preceded it.

The United States has spent the past twelve months struggling to set its feet back on the highway to peace and security. It cannot engage in this struggle without the deeply etched reminiscences of the dark and bloody times that were encompassed by Pearl Harbor and Okinawa.

"A picture is worth a thousand words" and the two above represent everything to be said of the past twelve months. On the left is pictured the climax in the battle of the Pacific, with death everywhere for the Marines at Iwo Jima.

This scene has been chosen because it represents the supreme sacrifice, the cost of war. It shows the utter wastefulness of a period where a jeep or landing craft was but a figure of logistics.

On the right is another beach, another guy, and his girl. The time has changed.

Iwo Jima and hundreds of other beaches in the Pacific are but memories of this ex-GI. He is thinking of how he used to dream of home — how he'd like to be on the beach, cooking steaks over an open hearth.

Twelve months have passed, the boy is home, the steaks are broiling. But there it ends.

Missing are the homes, the cars, refrigerators, clothes, and a million other things that penetrated the minds of those over there.

But peace and happiness are here, at least for a little while. And the hopes and longings for the future may be strong enough THIS TIME to combat the forces working towards World War III.

WUS observes 4th birthday one year after World War II

This week Wednesday With Uncle Sam, foremost service feature of Paddock Publications during World War II, observes its fourth birthday. Wednesday, also, is the first anniversary of the end of World War II, a war that cost this area 109 lives.

It was just a year ago on V-J day that With Uncle Sam put out its "super edition" of twenty-four pages with more than 300 letters and 100 pictures. This year WUS is commemorating the event with but a fraction of those stories, but with a feeling of a job well done in bringing home 2,200 men from war torn areas all over the world.

With Uncle Sam was born August 14, 1942, as a column "of by and for the servicemen". It took on the job of supplying more than 3,000 GIs with news of their buddies and of home. That WUS performed creditably in that capacity was proven when it received citations from the Veterans of Foreign Wars and American Legion posts of Arlington Heights for its part in bringing a little bit of home to lonely GIs over there.

Numbers tell the story. Figures are meaningless to the majority but the editor herewith presents a few to show the magnitude of the job undertaken by WUS. Fifteen-hundred and seventy letters were received from 793 servicemen the first year of WUS, an average of 30 a week. Second year saw 2911 letters appearing in the columns, with the special second anniversary edition including 227 stories.

Third year saw 3,911 letters rolling into WUS offices, an average of 78 per week. Total figure after last year's extravagant V-J edition was 8,392 letters from 2,277 local servicemen.

The fourth year saw the terrific pace of the third kept up for just 26 weeks when over 2,000 stories appeared. But from the middle of February on WUS dropped to the 20-40 class with most of the men being discharged.

With Uncle Sam feels the best synopsis of its work in the four years of its existence to date may be found in the line elsewhere on this page which tells that of 3,031 men sent into the armed forces by WUS, 2,195 have been brought home. Those same 3,031 men addressed 11,125 letters to the publication office.

No one knows the future of With Uncle Sam, except that it will continue to be in abbreviated form as long as the "new recruits" show interest in keeping it alive.

Discharged

Jack Brumm of Wheeling arrived home last week after completing a term of service in the Naval Reserves. Jack was on duty on the Pacific and had just returned from a trip to New Zealand.

John Schaefer of Arlington Heights was granted his discharge from the navy August 9 at Great Lakes.

Another Bensenville man now home is F. F. Kratochvil of Bensenville. He was released from the navy August 9 at Great Lakes.

T-5 Frank Koziol of Palatine is now back home after receiving his discharge from the army August 4.

Massachusetts

Home on furlough this week is Pvt. Jimmy Scherf of Arlington Heights. Jim is a radio operator and is stationed at Westover Field, Massachusetts. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Scherf and has 15 days to spend with them before returning to camp.

New Jersey

Now home on furlough from Fort Bliss, Texas, is Thomas Geimer of Arlington Heights. He arrived home Sunday for fourteen days and reports to New Brunswick, New Jersey, for possible shipment out. His address will be O-S Repl Dep., Camp Kilmer, New Brunswick, New Jersey.

Enlist

More young men desiring the opportunity to travel the world over aboard Uncle Sam's ships have enlisted in the U. S. navy. Recent enlistees include Alfred Stoeckel of Arlington Heights.

The quota for enlistments is getting smaller as the navy approaches its peace time strength. Enlistments are still open to young men between the ages of 17 and 30, for periods of 4 to 6 years. However, men who pass the "Eddy" test and are found otherwise qualified, may still be enlisted for a minimum of two years. Interested young men are urged to obtain further information by contacting the Navy Recruiting Station, 321 South Plymouth Court, Chicago.

Black Horses Suffer from Heat
Black horses are affected more by heat than horses of other colors. They absorb the sun's rays, get overheated more quickly and do not live as long as white horses. Experts in the field of color research know well the results of these experiments. However, the causes of some of these results are to this day inexplicable.

INFORMATION SERVICE

ILLINOIS VETERANS COMMISSION

Veterans have five months to reinstate life insurance

Urging veterans to "hang on to their insurance" Service Officer Walter Haynes at 41 S. Prospect (above Walgreen's) in Park Ridge points out that WW II veterans have only five months left in which to reinstate their lapsed insurance without a physical examination.

All that is required up to Dec. 31, 1946, is a signed statement that the veteran is in as good health as when he allowed his insurance to lapse, plus a remittance of two months' premiums at the same rate he paid while in service.

Recent amendments permit payments of insurance in a lump sum, with few restrictions as to beneficiaries. Endowment policies are also provided. Total disability coverage can also be had at a very reasonable rate.

There is an Illinois Veterans Commission Service Officer on duty in every county, with 16 offices in Chicago and Cook county.

When calling upon service officers the veteran should take with him all letters and papers received from the Veterans Administration, plus his discharge certificate or a true copy.

52,000 veterans to be students this fall at Illinois universities

Approximately 52,000 Illinois veterans of World War II plan to attend Illinois colleges and universities this fall on a full-time basis, the Chicago regional office of the Veterans Administration announced today. A recently completed survey reveals that about 20,000 of this number will be seeking admission for the first time.

Veterans Administration officials pointed out that the prospective enrollment may be further increased by an undetermined number of out-of-state veterans who hope to enter Illinois schools next month.

In addition to the 20,000 new applicants, most of the 35,000 student-veterans now carried by Illinois colleges are expected to reapply in September.

Transportation corps offers book full of good opportunities

"Keep 'em moving" is the motto of the Transportation Corps. And that's just what the men of this branch of the service do. The new Regular Army is vitally dependent for its success upon a system of organized transportation. The men of the Transportation Corps have the answer. They'll tell you that they are a new organization started in 1942. And with the next breath they will mention the Ledo Road or the Red Ball Highway. They have already established records in transportation that have never been equaled in history.

If you choose to enlist in the Transportation Corps you may be trained in the handling of small boats or heavy trucks. Or you may be working at any one of the many Army ports of embarkation and debarkation. The Transportation Corps also supervises the management of Army troop transports.

If you have had experience in transportation before entering the Regular Army, then you will fit into the Transportation Corps without much trouble. If you are interested in a future career in transportation of any type, then you can find no finer training or experience than that which you will receive in this great branch of service. You may be trained in any one of a number of categories which will help you to find a good job when your term of enlistment expires. These include railroad trainmen, engineers, marine and longshore workers, cargo handlers, truck drivers and automobile mechanics, welders and boiler makers, electrical specialists, Diesel specialists and many others.

Greenland's Ice Cap

One theory on the formation of the ice cap says that Greenland was originally shaped like a pie crust, with a rim of mountains around a low central plain. Winter after winter, snow gradually filled the pie crust to overflowing. Each year's snow, pressing down on the ice cap, forced chunks around the edges to break off into the sea, forming icebergs.

New mousetrap is electric, shocks rodents to death

"If you build a better mousetrap, the world will beat a path to your door" — Ralph Waldo Emerson.

The men who already are realizing the implications of this statement are H. L. and R. G. Ratchford, natives of Dayton, Ohio, and brother inventors of the "Electrocutter," the new electrical mousetrap.

One day during the war, to deal with a mouse problem in a basement, the Ratchfords rigged up a home-made electric mousetrap. It worked! In fact, it worked so well that all their friends and neighbors wanted electric mousetraps. With the end of the war and needing a new product to replace the work their machine shop had manufactured, they formed the Ratchford Engineered Products Company and began building the "better mousetrap."

Today, the Ratchfords are becoming known as the "mousetrap kings." The "Electrocutter" is a lot cleaner and more humane than the old spring job that was so distasteful to the housewife, dangerous to set, and slow, torturous death for the victim.

An attractive, streamline plastic design, requiring no resetting once it is plugged into a wall outlet, it's the answer to every woman's prayer! For every woman abhors the nasty job of setting an old-fashioned mousetrap and then attempting to remove the dead mouse.

With this modern electrical Pied Piper that rids homes and buildings of mice quickly, easily, and with no muss or bother, mice are killed instantly by an electric shock, and a phenomenal muscular reaction causes them to be thrown from the trap.

All the housewife has to do after the dead mouse is popped out on the floor is merely to sweep it up with a dust pan or piece of paper and throw it out. That's why housewives are all singing the praise of the "Electrocutter."

Here's how it works in three simple operations:

1. Baiting: merely turn the trap over and place suitable lure (cheese, chocolate, fruit, etc.) in the hole provided.

2. Setting: Attach extension cord to trap, place trap in desired location, and plug cord into a convenient wall outlet.

3. Disposal: Because "Electrocutter" expels the dead mouse from the trap, you merely sweep it up for disposal.

The Fair store has an exclusive, thirty days sales option on the new mousetrap, after which everybody will be selling them. Although the "Electrocutter" has been sold in New York and a few other cities on a test basis and sales have been phenomenal, no publicity has been released to date.

The press is cordially invited to meet the Ratchfords over coffee and.

War prisoners bid U.S. goodbye; 155 camps close

The army's vast prisoner-of-war program in the United States came to a virtual close this week with the shipment from the New York Port of Embarkation of the final group of able-bodied prisoners of war to be repatriated.

Fort Sheridan, which was base prisoner of war camp for 14,000 German prisoners a year ago, completed its shipment of prisoners of war on June 13, when the last of the prisoners left for repatriation centers. Shipment of prisoners began in October, 1945.

Sheridan was headquarters for 52 branch camps in Wisconsin, Upper Michigan and Lake, Will, DuPage and Cook counties in Illinois. These 52 camps held about 12,800 men who were engaged in contracting work which netted approximately 5 million dollars in cash to the federal government. Work done by prisoners for the government was estimated at 4 million dollars, bringing the total valuation of prisoner labor to approximately 9 million dollars.

Between the spring of 1942, when the first few war prisoners reached the United States, and this week's final shipment of 1420 Germans bound for Europe, there were brought to this country a total of 378,898 Germans, 51,455 Italians, and 5,435 Japanese.

The only prisoners-of-war remaining here today, General Bryan reported, are 140 Germans, 15 Italians and one Japanese serving Federal prison sentences for crimes committed while interned; 81 German and three Italian hospital patients who cannot yet be moved; and 28 German and 15 Italian escapees still at large.

Repatriation of Japanese prisoners-of-war was completed in January of this year, while the last group of able-bodied Italians sailed for Italy in May.

Questions on G. I. bill

This is another in a series of questions and answers regarding the rights of returning servicemen and their families, as answered by the USES office at 5306 W. Lawrence ave. Further information may be obtained by contacting this office.

Question: I have been enrolled in a college for the last month. During this time I have investigated several of the educational institutions and I have found one that will give me a larger number of the courses that I want to take. Can I change from one college to another?

Answer: A change in educational institutions under the G.I. Bill must have prior approval of the Veterans Administration. Students in Illinois wishing to change from one institution to another should write to: Manager, Veterans Administration, Attention: Advisement and Guidance Section, 366 W. Adams St., Chicago, Illinois.

Information included in the request to change institutions should include:

1. A record of the student's satisfactory progress at his present school.
2. A letter from the institution he plans to attend, stating that the institution can accept him.
3. His own letter stating why he wishes to change institutions.

Question: What progress must I make the first year that I am in school in order to continue in school for the balance of the period of my eligibility?

Answer: A veteran's continuance in his course at an institution under the G.I. Bill is contingent upon his maintaining satisfactory conduct and attendance, and progress in his work according to the regularly prescribed standards and practices of the institution.

Question: What is considered a full-time course in college?

Answer: Twelve or more semester hours of credit per semester.

A miracle! Attempt to stop plans for one subdivision

Residents turned out in considerable number at the Glenview Board meeting last Friday night to protest a plan of subdivision presented by Swain Nelson company. The land involved lies between Glenview road and Roosevelt Park and immediately west of Prairie street. A written petition, signed by approximately 100 persons, was filed with the Board, asking that the plan be refused.

Opposition stems from the fact that the subdivision plan would not provide a direct outlet from Roosevelt Park to Glenview road to carry the heavy traffic. The Board has referred the subdivision plan back to the Village Plan commission for reconsideration.

BESENVILLE

The estate of Hannah Fitzgerald, who died intestate in Chicago May 31, 1945, has been opened in probate court. It is valued at $10,000. Her heirs are a son, three daughters, and two grandchildren. A daughter is Mae Wedell, Bensenville.

YOUR DENTAL I. Q.

© American Dental Association

Q: My gums bleed easily. What could be the trouble with them? I brush them carefully, but that does not seem to have any effect; in fact, they bleed even more when I brush them.—O. A. R.

A: There are several conditions that may cause bleeding of the gums. All of them demand the services of a dentist and careful attention to his directions if they are to be cured and the gums restored to their former firmness and freedom from inflammation. One of the most common of these conditions is called gingivitis, or inflammation of the gums. This may be a very simple affliction, easily corrected. It may be an indication of a more serious disease, such as pyorrhea, a disease of the supporting structures of the teeth, and eventually, unless checked, may result in destruction of the bone and loss of the teeth. It is a very prevalent disease among persons of middle age and is probably one of the most common causes of the loss of teeth. It is also dangerous to the general health, since it causes formation of pus in the gums, which may be carried by the blood stream to all parts of the body. Vincent's infection, or trench mouth, is another condition in which the gums bleed easily. All of these dis-

Childhood diseases may have after-effects which do not appear for several years. For example, the enamel forming on children's teeth may be marred by the childhood diseases accompanied by high fevers, disturbance of the glandular system and poor nutrition. Some of the permanent results of these illnesses are evident in the incomplete enamel coating on the second teeth, roughened enamel and pits or fissures in the enamel. Protection of the child's general health should be a parent's first duty.

cases of the mouth, it must again be emphasized, require the care of a dentist.

Sues for property for new trailer plant

Efforts of the Universal Trailer Corporation, 4884 North Clark street, to build an $800,000 plant for the production of de luxe house trailers in Lincolnwood were revealed in a suit for specific performance filed in the Superior Court against the National Die Casting company, 3635 Touhy ave., Lincolnwood.

The trailer company is seeking to force National Die Casting to complete a purported contract of sale of 250,000 square feet of vacant property 245 feet east of the National Die Casting plant.

According to the suit by the trailer company, the National Die Casting company had been represented in the alleged sale of the land by John C. Bowers, a real estate broker, of 4628 Broadway.

On Sept. 11, 1945, declared the suit, John Bowers, real estate broker, offered the property for sale to the trailer company. The following day the trailer company, through Proesel, offered $37,000 for the land, and tendered a check for $2,000.

On Dec. 14, 1945, the suit continued, Bowers returned the deposit check to the trailer company, declaring that the property could not be sold on the basis of the offer of $37,000. Proesel said that National Die Casting has refused to go through with the sale despite numerous offers to pay the $37,000.

Few register for U. of I. course at Maine

Charles Parriott, chairman of the new Maine high school venture in offering extension courses of study under the cooperation of Illinois university, announced that the first registration on Wednesday, August 7, had not been very encouraging in that there were only 50 students registered. He stated that these courses of instruction will not be offered unless a minimum of 100 students register.

VET SUES FOR OLD JOB

Edward W. Caulfield has petitioned the Superior court for a mandamus to compel the Fire and Police Commission, Police Chief and Treasurer of Skokie village to reinstate him as a policeman there. He says he was appointed a policeman there in 1939 and held that position until he went into the army in 1943. He was discharged from the army recently and applied for reinstatement but was refused his old position.

Seek better phone service for Park Ridge

Failing in previous efforts to secure better telephone service for the community, the Park Ridge council adopted a resolution calling for a letter embodying complaints of existing phone service to be sent to the Illinois Commerce commission.

The matter was brought to the attention of the council when a communication was read from the Chamber of Commerce asking the city government's assistance.

The chamber asked "that the City attorney examine the franchise of the Middle States Telephone company and determine what service is required to be rendered and whether there is any violation of its terms."

The council voted to by-pass the local telephone management and present the matter directly to the ICC.

Recruiting office to open in Des Plaines

An army recruiting office is now open in Des Plaines at the post office, with the men in charge handling enlistments, general information about the army, and supervising the reenlistment of army men in certain grades. The office will be open in the post office building Monday through Thursday from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Nab stolen car and truck thieves in Des Plaines

Des Plaines city police have reported a great increase in truck, auto, bicycle, and what have you burglaries this month. Two cases on the credit side, however, included picking up of two of three auto thieves after chase, plus a truck and two boys seeking to steal gas. Both vehicles were returned to their owners in Chicago.

Niles days this week

A 4-door 1946 Buick heads the list of prizes to be awarded this week end at the annual Niles days. Refrigerator, phono-radio and an electric ironer are other awards being offered as part of the three-day festivities.

SUES FOR INJURIES

Kenneth G. Campbell has filed suit in circuit court against Marie Rumpf, doing business as Rumpf Real Estate Co., and Ray Rumpf, for $15,000 damages for injuries he sustained in an automobile accident in their car. The complaint states that he was riding in a car driven by Ray April 10 on real estate business. On Prospect ave. at Oakton st. the car was driven so badly that it overturned and he was seriously injured. The car was owned by Marie.

Want to buy 60,000 gallon water tank?

If anyone wants to buy a 60,000 gallon water tank, "just like new", they are urged to apply at Lombard where village authorities are seeking to sell the present tower. Cost of dismantling the tower, being replaced by a new, bigger reservoir, was $3,700, so the village thought they might be able to sell it as it stands. As Wise Acre said, "Just the thing for a back yard swim pool".
